Believe Russia May Insist on Purge of Polish Government

Premier Sikorski Confers With Churchill—Breach Wide as Ever

LONDON, April 28 (CP).—The bitter Russian-Polish diplomatic breach precipitated by Germany's "Smolensk graveyard story" was as wide as ever tonight after a day which brought these developments:

1. Soviet publication of articles which led observers to believe Russia would demand a purge of the Polish Government in London or the creation of a rival regime on Soviet soil.

2. A London Polish Government appeal "for the release" of all fighting Poles now in Russia, and a declaration that the Poles "have no need to defend themselves from any suggestion (by Russia) of contact or understanding with Hitler."

The Poles also asked that Russia release "tens of thousands of Polish orphans and children," and families of Polish fighting men, saying that these people—many of whom are regarded by Russia as Soviet citizens—are particularly precious" to a future re-establishment of Poland "in view of the German mass slaughter" in that country.

3. A Nazi-organized "medical mission" which will conduct an "inquest" at Katyn Forest near Smolensk where the Germans say 10,000 Polish officers were murdered and buried by the Russians.

4. Prime Minister Churchill conferred with Premier Wladyslaw Sikorski in an effort to heal the rupture, but apparently had made little headway. British officials were working closely with those of United States officials in attempting to repair the hole in the United Nations' political line-up against the Axis.

OFFICIALS CONFER WITH CHURCHILL

In London late tonight the Polish Government met after Premier Sikorski and Acting Foreign Minister Count Edward Raczynski had conferred with Mr. Churchill at No. 10 Downing Street.

The statement issued by the Poles later did not withdraw the request made to the International Red Cross for investigation of the Polish officers' deaths at Smolensk. Instead, the Poles were believed to have added more fuel to the fire by asking "the release" of Poles of fighting age in Russia along with thousands of members of their families and the orphaned thousands left by Poles killed in battle.

Well-informed sources said Russia contended that many of these now

Two Days of Loan Exceed Last Drive

Sales Reach 61,446, Total $118,245,250

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP).—Latest available totals show that 61,446 individual subscribers already have bought bonds in Canada's Fourth Victory Loan, National War Finance Committee headquarters announced tonight.

A total of 3,000,000 subscribers is sought in this campaign, compared with some 2,000,000 in the Third Victory Loan drive.

Tuesday's subscriptions totaled $34,949,500, bringing the total for the first two days of the three weeks' campaign to $118,245,250 compared with $92,634,000 for the first two days of the previous loan. Minimum objective this time is $1,100,000,000 against $750,000,000 for the Third Victory Loan.

Mailed and telegraphed detail put through the recording system today showed 61,446 individual subscribers bought bonds up to the close of business Tuesday night, committee headquarters said. Within the next few days, it was said, it should be possible to begin gauging the trend as to general sales and payroll subscriptions in addition to large individual and corporate purchases. In the first two days of the Third Victory Loan there were 52,663 individual subscriptions.

First city in Canada to exceed its total objective was Fredericton. The New Brunswick capital earned that distinction today and also became the first unit in New Brunswick to reach its objective.

Army loan headquarters said two military districts and two camp centres have already bought more bonds than they did during the entire last loan. They are M.D. No. 3 (Kingston, Ont.); M.D. No. 12 (Regina); Camp Borden, Ont., and Petawawa, Ont. Lt.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, chief of general staff, wired them "Heartiest congratulations . . . Keep up the good work."

Canadians In Raids On Kiska

Carry Out Two of Thirteen Attacks

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP).—Canadian pilots joined the continuing United States aerial offensive against the Japanese base on Kiska Island Monday, the Navy Department reported today, carrying out two of thirteen attacks during which "a number of buildings were destroyed."

This was the first time since September that a United States Navy communique had reported the Canadians in action in the Aleutians campaign. Yesterday, however, a dispatch from a correspondent at an advanced base in the Andreanoffs said R.C.A.F. pilots participated in an attack on Kiska April 18.

A navy communique said that in addition to destruction of the buildings, hits were scored on the main Japanese camp, on the airfield runway and on North Head, a point of land flanking the northern entrance in the Kiska Harbor. While naval men said they did not know exactly what installations were at North Head, it was presumed that the enemy had set up coastal defences there.

RAIDS REACH TOTAL OF 142

The thirteen raids Monday raised to a total of 142 the number of raids against Kiska to date.

The communique also reported forays in the South Pacific against enemy positions in the Central and Northwestern Solomons.

Early Tuesday morning, Solomons time, a group of Liberator heavy bombers assaulted installations at Kahili and Ballale in the Shortland Island area of the Northwestern Solomons and at Vila in the Munda area of the Central Solomons. The communique said that fires were started at Ballale and Vila.

Later Tuesday morning five Flying Fortresses made a second attack on Kahili, one of the principal enemy air bases in the Shortland sector, but poor visibility prevented observation of results.

BULLETINS

GERMAN COAST RAIDED

LONDON, April 29 (Thursday) (CP).—The Berlin radio reported today that "enemy" planes had dropped high explosives and incendiaries on the Northwest German coast during the night and said that eight of the raiders had been shot down. The broadcast, recorded by The Associated Press, did not specify the nationality of the raiding planes. It described those shot down as "multi-engined bombers."

STALIN'S AID SOUGHT

LONDON, April 29 (Thursday) (CP).—The Daily Mail said today that Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt had been in direct contact, presumably by telephone, and that Premier Stalin of Russia would be asked to take a personal hand in achievement of a conclusive settlement of all misunderstandings which have arisen through the Russian-Polish diplomatic rupture.

Delegates to Refugee Conference in Bermuda

British and American conferees engaged in the two-nation refugee parley at Hamilton, Bermuda, posed for their picture just before the opening session got under way. Left to right are George Hall, British delegate; Harold W. Dodds, president of Princeton University, leader of the American delegation; Richard K. Law, British under-secretary for Foreign Affairs, leader of the British group; Republican Sol Bloom, of New York, United States delegate, and Osbert Peake, British under-secretary of the Home Office.

Vancouver Boeing Plant Closed by Ottawa Order

Management Takes Action When Employees Insist Upon Rest Period of Ten Minutes

VANCOUVER, April 28 (CP).—A mass meeting of employees at the four Vancouver plants of Boeing Aircraft of Canada, Limited, decided tonight to continue their demands for rest periods. About 5,000 workers attended the meeting.

Charles Whent, president of the Aeronautical Mechanics' Lodge No. 756 (A.F.L.), told the meeting that Ralph P. Bell, Federal director-general of aircraft production, is to blame for the dispute between the management and the workers.

After about 9,000 workers took a ten-minute rest period today in defiance of a Government order forbidding such interruptions, the four plants were closed, affecting about 9,000 employees.

Union officials told the mass meeting tonight that United States plants have increased production by having rest periods. The employees decided to offer to return to work on Friday and use that day's pay for purchase of war bonds.

EMPLOYEES REMAIN ON PREMISES

Although the management announced workers would not be paid after 10 a.m., shop stewards of the Aeronautical Mechanics' Lodge, No. 756 (A.F.L.) told the men and women to remain on the premises and instructed later shifts to report as usual.

When the 4 p.m. shifts arrived, however, they found the entry gates closed and shop stewards on hand to advise them to attend tonight's meeting. Day shifts left at 4 p.m. in an orderly manner.

In the main plant, which only a few hours before was turning out huge PBY planes, workers wandered aimlessly after the shutdown. Even the big electric clocks were stilled and the shut-off of power prevented the cafeteria from operating, so

Soviets Take Toll of Nazi Air Strength

Destroy Forty Planes—Ground Fight Quiet

LONDON, April 28 (CP).—Russian airmen and gunners today destroyed forty German planes, twenty-three of them in the Caucasus, but there was only scattered minor ground activity, Moscow announced tonight.

The Government newspaper Izvestia called on the Red Army to prepare for decisive battles "which are in the offing" as Soviet airmen continued to pound the enemy's rear lines where the Germans are bringing up reserves for future operations.

The midnight communique, recorded by the Soviet radio monitor, said Russian airmen shot down fifteen German planes in the Kuban River Valley sector north of Novorossisk in the Caucasus, and anti-aircraft gunners bagged eight others.

The other seventeen German planes were downed in the Balakleya sector southeast of Kharkov in the Ukraine where the Red Army still holds firmly to its Donets River defences.

Artillery duels and scouting operations marked the Caucasian and Ukraine fronts, and there was a renewed flurry of small engagements on the Leningrad and Volkhov fronts in the north.

The Berlin radio, in a broadcast recorded by The Associated Press, claimed German airmen had attacked the Russians along the Sea of Azov after observing Soviet attempts "to repair and strengthen" ports in that area.

Two Killed in Vernon Mishap

VERNON, April 28 (CP).—Two Canadian Army privates were killed here Tuesday when the Bren gun carrier in which they were riding went out of control on a steep hill. A coroner's jury here today found that no one was responsible for the accident.

Two other men in the carrier were taken to hospital with unstated injuries and the other two occupants escaped uninjured.

Two Japanese Ships Bombed

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 29 (Thursday) (CP).—Two small Japanese ships were bombed and machine-gunned yesterday in the Arafura Sea, the High Command announced today.

The larger ship, of about 2,000 tons, took a direct hit and both were left stationary.

It was the second attack in two days on shipping in the Arafura Sea. Two ships of 4,000 tons each were bombed Tuesday and one of them was hit on the bow.

"Our medium bombers executed mast-height attacks on two enemy cargo ships ninety miles north of Dobo, scoring a direct hit and a close miss with 500-pound bombs on the stern of a 2,000-ton vessel and two near misses on one of 1,200 tons," the noon communique reported concerning yesterday's attack.

Closing Liquor Stores to Stock

All liquor vendor stores in British Columbia will be closed today, Friday and Saturday, Commissioner W. F. Kennedy announced Wednesday night, in order that each store may be stocked up for Monday when new rations will be effective. Mr. Kennedy was not ready to state what each permit holder would be able to purchase monthly.

Little Damage By Air Raid Over England

LONDON, April 29 (Thursday) (CP).—German air raiders appeared over Britain last night for the first time in four nights, but preliminary reports today indicated they had been driven off before they could do any damage.

The enemy activity was said to have been on a small scale and bombs fell at only one place—a town in Southern England. They caused no casualties.

At least one of the Nazi raiders was shot down.

British bombers hammered Nazi communications and supply lines in Holland and Northern France yesterday and damaged two enemy mine sweepers in an assault on a small convoy off the coast of Brittany, the Air Ministry announced last night.

Fighters on offensive patrols damaged several barges and locomotives in Holland, and fighter bombers struck at a number of railway targets in Northern France. Whirlwind bombers attacked the convoy.

Three aircraft are missing from the day's operations.

B.C. Teachers To Join With Labor Unions

VANCOUVER, April 28 (CP).—Delegates to the British Columbia Teachers' Federation today endorsed a motion approving affiliation with labor to take effect before June 30, 1944. The vote was 175 in favor and 116 against.

Adoption of the motion was preceded by three hours of highly technical debate centring on whether affiliation could be considered without an amendment to the constitution. Legal opinion was divided on the subject.

At the outset of today's session President A. T. Alsbury ruled a recent referendum which resulted in teachers voting 1,293 to 1,021 in favor of affiliation had failed to carry because it lacked a two-third majority.

Mr. Alsbury ruled the convention could if it wished instruct the executive a constitutional amendment was not necessary, which would remove the necessity of serving notice of motion for constitutional changes of the 1944 convention and thus delaying the issue for a further twelve months.

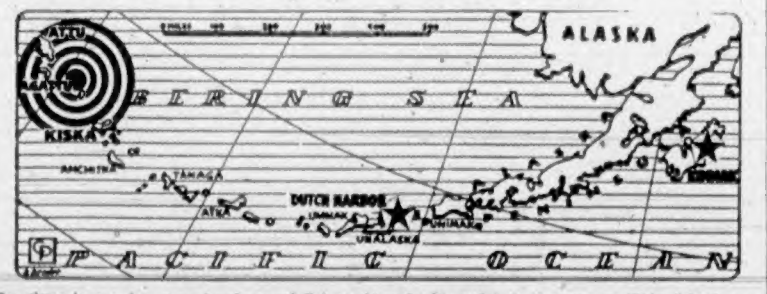
The motion as adopted declared "this convention now approves affiliation with labor during the (federation) year ending June 30, 1944."

By a second vote the executive was empowered to negotiate for affiliation with either the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada or the Canadian Congress of Labor.

DEMAND CHANGES

BELFAST, April 28 (CP).—The likelihood of changes in the cabinet and the possibility that a new government would be formed was seen tonight in the report that Prime Minister John Miller Andrews was expecting to call upon the Governor of Northern Ireland by May 3. The Ulster Unionist party of which the Prime Minister is a member met today to hear demands for changes in the cabinet.

Allied Flyers Blast Japanese Positions on Kiska



Ten times in one day, army bombers and fighters blasted and strafed the Japanese on Kiska Island, scoring many hits and starting fires, according to an official communique. Prior attacks by United States flyers have damaged Japanese installations on Kiska and Attu, which, with Agattu, form the target for air operations in the Northwest Pacific. After each attack the Japanese have resumed work on runways on Kiska and Attu which they have been trying to construct since January.

British 1st Army in Powerful Assault Against Enemy Hill Position in Vicinity of Tunis

U.S. Troops Storm Three Defences—French Advance

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, April 28 (AP).—The British First Army threw in a powerful assault today against an Axis mountain position only twenty-one miles from Tunis—the Djebel Bou Aoukaz commanding open stretches of the Medjerda valley leading down to the Tunisian capital—while American troops completed the storming and capture of three important hill defences on the route to Mateur and Bizerte.

To the South, the French, hammering at the gates of Pont du Fahs, have driven a column southeast of that town to reach the western slopes of Djebel Zaghouan despite heavy Axis artillery fire, the French communique reported. This column cut the main road from Pont du Fahs to Djebibina.

Other French forces, which had swept forward fifteen miles in three days of what official reports termed "magnificent fighting," were beating at the outskirts of Pont Du Fahs, in co-operation with British armored columns striking from the northwest.

The Germans and Italians fought with savage tenacity against the steady, continued Allied advance—delayed front dispatches told, for example, of the enemy's unavailing use of flame-throwing tanks in one sector—and a military spokesman again declared that the Axis policy to hold every position to the last still obviously was unshaken.

"He (the enemy) will go back only as the result of overwhelming pressure," the spokesman added.

EIGHTH ARMY CONTINUES ADVANCE

Along the southern end of the front Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's British Eighth Army was reported also continuing to advance, making the greater progress along his left, along a harsh and twisted line of march formed by the hard terrain itself, heavy Axis demolitions and many Axis mines.

The Eighth Army is facing the enemy's main fortified line, and the Germans are using perhaps the greatest concentration of artillery that they have employed anywhere outside Russia in their determination to halt Montgomery, said Associated Press correspondent Noland Norgaard in a front line dispatch. British artillery is pounding back

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1943, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, April 28.—The whole Tunisian front is now aflame, says The Times correspondent at Algiers, with fighting reaching a climax of savagery. Evidently the Nazis have every intention of fighting to the exhaustion point, regardless of losses.

The Allies are paying a heavy price for their gains, but Axis strength, particularly in tanks, is dwindling. The navy sees to it they get no reinforcements by sea.

One British division south of the Mejez-Terbourba Road has advanced nine miles since Sunday, having won the fierce battle of Longstop Hill. Churchill tanks scaled one hill in this neighborhood and the Merjerda River line was stormed.

The Nazis have lost eighty tanks in ten days of fighting, with the consequence that British superiority is becoming more marked.

The French are giving magnificent support in the south, and the Moroccan guns are near Pont du Fahs already. In the north, French forces have gained twenty-seven miles along the Mediterranean Coast since the offensive began.

The strategic air force has intensified its attacks on Italy, bombing north of Rome, the farthest point yet reached from North African airdromes.

The Times' military corespondent says the capture of Longstop Hill leaves nothing comparable to that defensive position between British troops and Tunis city. However, it is likely the Germans will sacrifice much to hold Tebourba, which is the main link between the enemy's north and south communications.

French troops must now be very near outer defences covering Bizerte.

It is true, adds The Times expert, no break through has yet taken place, but it was, in any event, improbable. However, things are going well.

The heaviest air raid of the war launched by Royal Air Force has done immense damage to the Rhine River port of Duisburg. Bombs were dropped at the rate of thirty tons every minute for three-quarters of an hour, and the Nazis' heavy defences wilted beneath the terrific explosions.

The bombardment equaled that of the 1,000 bomber raid on Cologne last year.

The Royal Air Force has now conquered the weather to such an extent that the attack took place in a sixty-miles-an-hour gale, and flying was sometimes in squalls at the rate of 100 miles an hour.

So many incendiaries were dropped on the city it appeared to be wholly covered with luminous white paint. Great fires were seen by pilots, many of them Canadians, as they left. Smoke spurted up to 10,000 feet.

Japanese Slaughter Chinese on Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28 (AP).—Japanese troops have slaughtered every man, woman and child in the coastal areas of China where American flyers landed after bombing Tokio, Secretary Henry Morgenthau said tonight.

Morgenthau said his information was contained in a cablegram received from Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek. He read the message at a gathering of war loan workers here.

The Secretary of the Treasury spoke of the horror with which the United States a few days ago learned that some of the American flyers captured by the Japanese had been executed.

Tornadoes Take Toll In N. Ohio

Three Dead and Damage Heavy

AKRON, Ohio, April 28 (AP).—Northern Ohio counted three dead tonight and destruction mounting upwards of $4,000,000 as it dug out of debris strewn by a series of tornadoes that left nearly 500 homeless and injured more than 150.

The twisters, Ohio's worst since the Lorain tornado of June 28, 1924, struck freakishly in eleven widely-separated sections of Cleveland, slashed through Akron and a dozen smaller communities, damaged nearly 2,000 homes and crippled several war plants.

Ray Myers, chief communications officer of the Summit County civilian defence organization, estimated damage in the Akron area alone at $2,000,000 to $3,000,000, while Cleveland reckoned its loss in excess of $1,000,000.

Killed in the storm were Arthur C. Cawrse, of Cleveland, vice-president of the dairymen's Ohio Farmers' Milk Co., as the tornado destroyed or damaged all the buildings on his farm near Oberlin; Richard Paternoster, twelve, and Anthony Fernbach, nine, Akron orphans, trapped in a barn which collapsed on a farm near Medina.

MORE THAN 160 ARE INJURED

More than 100 Akronites were treated for injuries at hospitals and in their homes, while Cleveland's injured totaled fifty-two. At least seven others were injured in other communities, two near Bellevue and five in the Tiffin area.

Confronted with the task of sheltering and feeding fifty home-

Coal Dispute Is Turned Over To White House

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP).—The United States War Labor Board turned the soft coal dispute over to the White House today, thus heading it for a final showdown between President Roosevelt and John L. Lewis, the United Mine Workers' chieftain.

With 61,000 miners already idle due to unauthorized walkouts, the Labor Board said it could only turn to the White House since its own orders and appeals for continued production had been ignored.

The dispute confronted the President with challenges on two major points:

1. The U.M.W.'s refusal to submit its case to the War Labor Board, the agency Mr. Roosevelt established as a court of final resort for all wartime labor disputes.

2. The U.M.W.'s demands for wage increases without regard for the "little steel" formula, which has become basic Government policy by incorporation in the President's hold-the-line order against inflation.

Ban Against Slaughtering Is Revoked

Island Farmer May Kill and Sell Stock

Information was received here yesterday that Order No. 261 of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, which prohibits farmers from killing and selling their stock for either wholesale or retail sale, will not apply on Vancouver Island, because of the lack of a licensed abbatoir here.

Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, reported that, according to board officials, Vancouver Island has been classed as a deficiency area, or that having no abbatoir.

"In a deficiency area it is intended to grant permits to any person who slaughters livestock, or had livestock slaughtered for him in 1941, without reference to volume," Dr. MacDonald reported the board had stated.

At the same time Sydney Pickles, president of District "A," Farmers' Institute of British Columbia, had a reply to an objection he had lodged with the board on April 23, in which he said that the order would force smaller farmers here out of meat production, and would encourage others to enter the black market to obtain a living.

NEW RULING PERMITS SLAUGHTERING

The reply, from F. S. Grisdale, deputy food administrator, Ottawa, read as follows: "Foods administrator has ruled Vancouver Island deficiency area under slaughtering order No. 261. This rule will enable farmer-slaughterers to dispose of their meat."

Dr. MacDonald spoke highly of the co-operation offered by the Victoria and Vancouver offices of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board toward having this rule established.

As a result of the message, a protest meeting to have been held at Keating tonight has been canceled, according to W. D. Michell, president of the South Saanich Farmers' Institute, who had called the meeting.

Chief objections raised by the farmers to the rule were that large numbers of small farmers would be unable to continue producing if forced to sell "live" to big distributors; that any attempt to prevent farmers slaughtering for sale would encourage black market operations, and that many farmers, who sell fresh meat at public markets would be forced out of business, with subsequent loss of revenue to municipal authorities affected, and loss of meat available to the public.

The Long Sea Watch

ON every fighting vessel, on every merchant ship, on each patrol boat and shore station since this global conflict began there has been kept that least spectacular but most useful of all services—the long sea watch. Men shrouded in watch-coats and parkas have kept their eyes peeled for the first sight of the enemy, for attack by air or by submarine, for all that moves upon the surface of a wind-lashed, angry sea. It is mainly because of the long sea watch, and all that goes with it, that the United Nations have kept the fleets of the enemy apart, broken up their concentrations, reduced Germany to an undersea fleet, bottled Italian ships in the Mediterranean, and stood off the flag of the rising sun in the Pacific. Because hundreds of thousands of men were ready to do a hard, cold task, we sleep safe in our beds at night. Now we are asked to do our part, by lending our money so that the long sea watch can be maintained, and its purpose established in victory. It is strange that a bond can do that, but it does. Halifax and Victoria alike know of the long sea watch, have participated in it. Back up these men. Buy bonds as a duty, as a privilege, as a fighting blow in the war.

Thinks Enemy Might Have Taken Harbor

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP). — Military men were agreed that if the Japanese had attacked Dutch Harbor in force last June "they would have taken that important and strategic base," Senator [illegible] Albert B. Chandler (Democrat, Kentucky) declared in a speech here tonight.

Chandler is chairman of a special Senate committee that investigated military establishments in Alaska and the Aleutian Islands last August.

Loss of Dutch Harbor, he said, would have cut off American supplies to Nome and given the whole Aleutian chain to the Japanese. The committee was so impressed with the danger, Chandler said, that it appealed to the President for prompt addition of troops, planes and equipment.

Japanese completion of air landing strips on Kiska and Attu, he declared, would constitute a menace to the Pacific area, and because they have established themselves on the islands, Chandler added, "it will be very costly to us in men and materials to dislodge them."

Expressing fear that Government officials and military men fail to realize the seriousness of the Pacific conflict, Chandler said he did not believe they ever counted it a major war.

"It is suicide, in my opinion," he asserted, "to permit the Japanese time to dig in in the South Pacific. If they are given this time, I fear that they will grow so strong—both economically and militarily—that the war in the Pacific may last ten years or twenty years or may go on forever."

Suit Dismissed

CHICAGO, April 28 (AP). — Judge John P. Barnes, acting on a motion filed by the Department of Justice Anti-Trust Division, today dismissed without prejudice the Government's second suit against James C. Petrillo, president of the A.F.L. American Federation of Musicians, based on the union's ban on musical recordings.

The suit had asked for an injunction restraining Petrillo from interfering in the manufacture of the recordings.

Assistant United States Attorney Daniel O. Britt, head of the Anti-Trust Division here, gave no reason for the requested dismissal when he presented the motion, but commented later:

"The Government is still considering the matter and will continue giving careful consideration to see that the activities of Mr. Petrillo are within the law."

Rotarians Open Two-Day Conference in Victoria

Kelowna Man Is New Governor

Rotarians 400 strong, representing clubs in Washington, Oregon, Idaho and British Columbia, assembled here yesterday for the opening day of the twenty-ninth annual conference, District 101, Rotary International.

Business sessions were held in the morning and afternoon at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Douglas Street, where the conference will continue this morning. Following the early afternoon session today group meetings will be held at the Empress Hotel. The parley will conclude this evening.

Robert Cheyne, a chartered accountant and president of the Kelowna Rotary Club, was yesterday named governor of Rotary District 101 by acclamation. Mr. Cheyne will have jurisdiction over 190 clubs in the area, extending along the West Coast from Alaska to Oregon and including British Columbia, Washington and the panhandle of Idaho. He is at present a member of the Canadian advisory council of Rotary for British Columbia.

Election of Mr. Cheyne came at the conclusion of the morning session. Other items on the agenda included addresses of welcome, reports, music and routine business.

MAYOR A. McGAVIN WELCOMES VISITORS

Mayor Andrew McGavin extended a welcome to the visiting delegates and expressed the hope their short stay in the city would be enjoyable.

"We can't offer you the usual entertainment here because we are rationed. In fact, we've got the last bottle of Scotch down in the museum," he remarked jokingly. "But, seriously, we have a war to win and everybody has got to get behind and fight," the city's chief magistrate concluded.

Frank Turley, president of the host club, added his words of welcome to those of the Mayor, and pointed out that this is the sixth Rotary conference to be held in Victoria.

"Actually we are pinch-hitting for Seattle, where the conference was supposed to take place, but where the city decided it could not accommodate the convention this year," he said.

Mr. Turley remarked that in addition to being the 100th anniversary of Victoria, this year is also the thirtieth year of operation of Rotary in this city.

Rotary leaders are pictured above with Mayor Andrew McGavin a few minutes after Victoria's chief magistrate extended the hand of friendship and welcome to the visitors. They are, left to right, Frank Turley, president Victoria Rotary Club; Mayor Andrew McGavin, Fred K. Jones, district governor, Spokane, and Gerald A. Yardley, past-president, Victoria Rotary Club.

Leon Ladner, president of the Vancouver Rotary Club, gave the main address of the morning session. The Mainlander spoke on "The Postwar Challenge to Rotary," remarking that this challenge lay in complete understanding of the Atlantic Charter and support of some form of world organization to get these principles established.

OUTLINES SOME OF POSTWAR PROBLEMS

Summarizing some of the problems which would have to be faced in a postwar world, Mr. Ladner said: "We remember the celebration and jubilation which greeted the last armistice, but what a scene of devastation will be in evidence when armistice is declared this time.

"To bring about the re-establishment of some semblance of civilization, peace, order, justice and freedom again will be the stupendous task of some form of organization requiring the united efforts of all nations," he said.

Mr. Ladner urged that Rotarians in their thinking be guided by the principles of the Atlantic Charter, and work for the establishment of some form of world council or organization to see that the ideals for which it stands are put into effect.

The morning session was opened with an organ recital by Sgt. Paul Michelin, R.C.A.F. Gerald A. Yardley, conference chairman, called the session to order, and Rev. Wilfred J. Sipprell gave the invocation in the absence of Rev. George W. Bruce, of Ashland, Oregon.

DISTRICT MAY BE SUBDIVIDED

A resolution to divide District 101, largest in all Rotary International, into eleven regions was endorsed at the afternoon session. The plan, along with the map showing regional boundaries, will be submitted to each district club for ratification. Clubs must report their reaction to the plan to the district governor not later than June 15, 1943.

Northern British Columbia and Alaska will be Region No. 1, and the British Columbia Mainland will be Region No. 2. Vancouver Island will be Region No. 3. All remaining regions, four to eleven inclusive, are in the United States.

Gerald A. Yardley, past president, Victoria Rotary Club, presided at the conference dinner in the evening at the Empress Hotel.

Tom J. Davis, of Butte, past president, Rotary International, was introduced at the dinner and given a great ovation. Other Rotary dignitaries were also introduced and warmly received by the delegates.

Following the dinner, the delegates adjourned to the Empress Hotel lawn to witness a demonstration by Victoria Girls' Drill Team. The Victoria Boys' Band supplied the music for the marching.

The two-day conference will conclude today with morning and afternoon sessions at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church; luncheon and group meetings at the Empress Hotel.

Winning War Is First Objective

Rotarian Appeals For Leadership

Making a stirring appeal to his fellow clubmen for leadership and emphasizing that winning the war and winning the peace were the two foremost objectives of all Rotarians, W. Walter Williams, past president of the Seattle Rotary Club, addressed delegates attending the twenty-ninth annual conference, District 101, yesterday afternoon at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

"The first and foremost objective of all Rotarians is to help win the war. Win it as quickly as possible—yes, but thoroughly and unconditionally," he stated. Only this can a solid foundation be laid upon which to build the structure of permanent peace, he continued.

Dealing with the probable length of hostilities, Mr. Williams posed the question: "How long will the war last? Some of you will say until the end of 1943—a few only; others 1944, and some of you may say until 1950, or even longer," he said.

"Will the United Nations win an unconditional release?" Mr. Williams asked. "It's easy to answer 'yes'," he stated. "It's the patriotic emotional response to the question. But suppose Russia and Germany become deadlocked; supposing Russia, after such heavy sacrifice of blood treasure, should suddenly, becoming war-weary, decide she had done her share. Or supposing China, starved of supplies, ravaged by inflation, beset by propaganda—should succumb—unable or unwilling to continue the awful sacrifice which she has so heroically made for nearly seven long years.

"It is more probable that these things will not happen than that they will, but who of us will deny their possibility," he stated. "And should they actually happen, even in some modified form, then how would you answer the question: Will the United Nations win unconditional victory?"

Speaking of American labor and business, he expressed the hope that a way would be found to prevent strikes in war plants.

"In 1942 enough man-hours were lost in American war plants through strikes to produce 729 bombers," Mr. Williams stated. "Would that there were some way to pin the responsibility upon those who were responsible for the lost man-hours that failed to produce those fateful 729 bombers.

"But that very statement suggests the answer to the question as to how Rotary may attain this first objective of helping to win the war. The exercise of strong, courageous, intelligent leadership will do much in every community to see to it that that community is doing its maximum share in war effort. Rotarians are leaders. If they were not they would not be Rotarians," the past president declared.

SECOND OBJECTIVE IS TO WIN THE PEACE

"The second objective is to win the peace. For convenience, let us break this objective into two component parts," Mr. Williams continued. "The first of these, again as a process of enlightened leadership, is to assist responsible Governments to mete out justice when the war is over," he said.

"The second component part of the objective of winning the peace is to plan and help build a postwar world. Someone has said that for peace to be durable it must be endurable. For it to be endurable it must be on a foundation that at least points in the direction of the steadily improving welfare of the free people of all nations.

"Let me suggest a few steps in the accomplishment of this great purpose. First, the United Nations should be a permanent working structure; second, a close-working, friendly understanding relationship between the British Commonwealth of Nations and the United States is absolutely imperative," he said.

"Upon our gallant allies, China and Russia, also must fall a big share of the responsibility for making the postwar world. But without an absolute, intimate understanding within the English-speaking world, there is no chance for success in building a better postwar world," Mr. Williams said.

In concluding, Mr. Williams spoke of the need of friendliness, understanding and good neighborliness "with our South American friends," and freer trade among the United Nations, as steps in the building of a permanent order of world peace.

Fred K. Jones, district governor, of Spokane, introduced the speaker, who was accorded an ovation at the conclusion of his inspiring address.

Deduction for Compensation To Be Doubled

VANCOUVER, April 28 (CP). — Workers contributing to the Workmen's Compensation Board fund will have their pay deductions increased from one to two cents per day effective May 1, it was learned here today.

An amendment to the Compensation Act at the last session of the Legislature provided that if one cent a day proves insufficient to provide one-half the cost of medical aid, the contribution from workmen shall be increased so as to provide one-half the cost.

The board estimates the cost now to be over four cents a day.

that workers who had carried their lunches shared them with their comrades. In some corners of the plant sing-songs were organized.

FOLLOWS ORDERS FROM DEPARTMENT

Stanley Burke, Boeing president, issued a statement saying that "Owing to unauthorized stoppage of work which took place in our plants this morning, I have no alternative but to abide by my instructions from the Department of Munitions and Supply to close the plant."

Tom Price, union business agent, said that a wire had been received from Deputy Minister of Labor Arthur McNamara, acknowledging the union's application for investigation of the rest period question, but doubting if any action could be taken before the end of the week.

No action was taken at the Canadian Pacific Air Line overhaul plant at New Westminster. William Turner, secretary of Lodge 756, said C.P.A.L. employees were continuing work because they had applied for investigation by a commission.

MONTREAL WORKERS READY TO HELP

MONTREAL, April 28 (CP).—Jean Pare, business agent of the Montreal A.F. of L. Aircraft Union, which, he said, represented 17,000 workers, announced tonight the lodge had sent a telegram to Prime Minister Mackenzie King saying "we are ready to go the limit" to help Vancouver aircraft workers win a "square break" in their dispute with the Boeing Aircraft Corporation.

Boeing employees, who are members of the same international union, had sent the Montreal union a telegram declaring the workers "were on the job when company officials told us to go home." The telegram said the union was asking succeeding shifts to report to work as usual and added "full responsibility for the shutdown rests with the company and the Department of Munitions and Supply."

The Government ordered the plant closed following a dispute involving a rest period which was taken by workers in defiance of Government orders.

Pare said "the Government action in closing down this plant is a scandal of the first magnitude, hindering as it does the production of Catalina flying boats—one of the most important planes being made in Canada."

less families in house-short Akron. Chairman William G. Roderick, of the Red Cross, appealed to Washington for disaster relief workers. Air cadets training at Akron University salvaged food and guarded wrecked homes at Mogadore, eight miles away, where between forty and fifty families were homeless. Village women opened a commissary in a church to feed the families.

One hundred homes were virtually demolished at Cleveland and 900 others damaged in varying degrees as the storm caved in and ripped off sides of houses, razed them from foundations and shattered thousands of windows. The entire roof was lifted off a two-story, four-family apartment in Lakewood, Cleveland suburb.

WAR PLANTS ARE CRIPPLED

War plants crippled by the storm included the B.F. Goodrich Company here, which estimated damage at $250,000 and said about 10 per cent of its production force was made idle. Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company reported damage to one of its buildings was substantial and that some workers were made temporarily jobless.

Nine employees were injured, four seriously, when power lines were cut down at the American Steel & Wire Company's Newburgh works, plunging the suburban Cleveland plant into darkness. Also affected were the Cleveland Pneumatic Tool Company, Amalgamated Steel Company and the Harold Manufacturing Company, all of Cleveland.

Republic Steel Corporation estimated its Cleveland facilities were damaged to the extent of $25,000.

SUGAR FOR CANNING

POWELL RIVER, B.C., April 27 (CP).—Residents of Powell River and district have applied for 150,000 pounds of sugar for canning purposes this year, Ration Board officials have disclosed. This amounts to approximately twenty-nine pounds a person. Most optimistic request came from a bachelor who wanted 500 pounds. One woman said she would be satisfied with five.

Loan Drive in B.C. Ahead of Last Campaign

VANCOUVER, April 28 (CP).—The general public in the British Columbia-Yukon area have invested more money to date in Canada's Fourth Victory Loan than in the same period of the third loan, but there is a lag in the actual percentage of quota attained.

In the third loan at this time, the public had subscribed 14 per cent of the quota but at noon Wednesday the public had subscribed 10 per cent of the quota for the fourth loan.

Including large applications, the total raised to date is $20,684,550.

In the general canvass among the nine British Columbia-Yukon divisions, Vancouver retained second position with 12 per cent, or an investment of $3,253,250. Vancouver's general canvass quota is $18,800,000.

Yukon - Atlin - Peace River still leads with 15 per cent. Other divisions stand in this order:

Okanagan - Kamloops-Revelstoke, 11 per cent; Vancouver Island, 10 per cent; New Westminster-Fraser Valley, 8 per cent; Kootenays, Northern British Columbia, Vancouver suburban, all tied at 7 per cent, while Coast division stands at 5 per cent.

In the contest between the forty-six units the general public canvass ranges from 58 per cent reached by Dawson-Mayo down to 2 per cent attained by Quesnel-Wells-Williams Lake.

From Europe

The Nazis, delighted with the success of their propaganda in creating a breach between Poland and Soviet Russia, are now broadcasting as many lies as they can think of to add to the trouble which Premier Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden are trying to heal. At the same time the enemy is intensifying his anti-Bolshevik campaign.

The Times stresses inconsistencies in the German stories of murdered Polish officers, and says it is a pity the Poles have fallen into the trap laid for them by Goebbels' perfidy.

Editorially, The Times recalls faked atrocity evidence the Nazis produced during the first war. Winter when elaborate details were given of supposed Polish atrocities against peaceful German inhabitants of Poland. This gruesome and fantastic fabrication was only the first of many that might have warned the Poles of what the Nazis were capable.

Refusal of the Red Cross to undertake an investigation into the deaths of Polish officers, adds The Times, is sufficient commentary on the character of the request.

The Soviet decision to break relations with Poland without a previous consultation with Britain is an unfortunate setback in steadily growing confidence between the London and Moscow Governments.

Loan Drive Here Nearing First Million

Local Area Creeping Up on Halifax

Metropolitan Victoria by 10 o'clock last night was nearing its first million in the Fourth Victory Loan. When the last of the late canvassers had reported to unit headquarters in Victoria City, Saanich, Esquimalt and Oak Bay, the total for the district was $936,750.

The area's combined quota of $7,080,000 was still a long way off but the situation was vastly improved over that of Tuesday.

By noon yesterday Greater Victoria had pulled close to Greater Halifax in the dollar-for-dollar contest between the two communities, the respective scores at that time reading:

Greater Halifax, $804,450.

Greater Victoria, $766,400.

Canvassers' reports received last night indicate that by noon today the Victoria District will be out in front.

Subscriptions by units in Greater Victoria up to last night follow, figures in brackets being the quota for the unit:

Victoria City, $654,800 ($4,100,000).

Saanich, $87,400 ($1,075,000).

Oak Bay, $148,600 ($1,105,000).

Russia-Poland

in Russia were Soviet citizens, and that a previous Polish request already had been turned down by Moscow.

The Poles in their statement also said that they "never claimed and do not claim any Soviet territories," and that they had scrupulously discharged their obligations under agreements made with Russia after Germany's invasion of Soviet territory.

This disavowal of any claim to "Soviet territories" apparently refers to the area which the Poles call Eastern Poland and which the Russians say is really part of White Russia. Hence this statement does not change the territorial dispute between the two peoples.

In an article in Izvestia today, Wanda Vasilevskaya, described as "president of the Union of Polish Patriots," accused the Polish leaders in London of being "in contact and collusion" with Germany.

"NONSENSICAL SLANDEROUS ACCUSATION"

To support this charge she suggested that was the reason for the removal from Russia of reformed Polish troops under General Wladyslaw Anders, and also said a statement by Bishop Gawlina that 400,000 Polish children had died in Russia was a "nonsensical slanderous accusation" in line with anti-Soviet propaganda.

Last January the British India Office announced that more than 100,000 Poles under General Anders had left Russia under a November, 1941, agreement between Russia and Poland.

These men, supplied with British food and clothing and Russian arms, were moved to the Middle East to fight against the Axis.

According to a statement by Bishop Josef Gawlina, chief chaplain of the Polish armed services, 400,000 of the 1,000,000 Polish children transported to Russia in 1939 and 1940 "perished from hunger and exposure." The bishop's statement was issued April 1 through the National Catholic Welfare conference in Washington in connection with a relief drive.

In its statements tonight the Polish Government said it reserved the right to plead the cause of these people and asked for continuation of relief welfare for the mass of Polish citizens who remain in the U.S.S.R.

As for the Russian charges of pro-German elements in its organization the Polish Government said: "All collaboration with the Germans has been scorned and that no traitor Quisling has sprung from Polish ranks."

The controversy caused keen delight in Axis capitals, and Berne dispatches said a German-selected commission of "European doctors" was en route to the Smolensk area to conduct an "inquest" on the Nazis' own story. It was said this commission included representatives of every Axis satellite nation, and also one Portuguese, one Spaniard and one Swiss, the last named a resident of Germany.

The International Red Cross, however, still clung to its original position that a request from all countries concerned, Russia included, would be necessary before it would undertake any investigation of the German charges.

EDITORIAL WRITERS COLDLY ANALYTICAL

BERNE, April 28 (AP)—Some editorial writers of the European press today were becoming coldly analytical of the German propaganda in connection with the Russian-Polish break. The Journal de Geneve said that one purpose of the propaganda against Russia was to take attention from Germany's military setbacks.

The Gazette de Lausanne suggested that the Poles should also have requested an investigation of German activities in Poland where thousands of Poles and Polish Jews have been killed.

An editorial in La Suisse said that the German request for a Red Cross investigation was simply an artifice of propaganda. The Journal de Geneve saw in the campaign efforts by the Nazis to rally Europe against "the Bolshevist menace."

Nazi commentators made no effort to conceal the hope that they could stir up sufficient dissension to hamper unity over second-front operations, and create a screen of confusion to conceal their own political, military and economic difficulties in getting ready for the most critical year that the German Army may yet have faced.

Tomorrow afternoon, evenings, all Saturday, Flower Show, Crystal Garden. ***

A Nazi "Soldier"

Germany's pressing manpower problem was never more graphically illustrated than in this picture received from neutral countries via London. The Nazi "soldier," obviously a very young boy, is being trained aboard a German warship as a "help-soldier" to replace a more mature fighting man who can be used in the front lines.

Powerful Assault

at the strongly-fortified German hill positions.

The Allied air forces, although limited somewhat by unfavorable weather, kept the enemy's front line areas and his communications and air fields under strong attack.

The First Army's attack on the Djebel Bou Aoukaz, which lies twelve miles northeast of Medjez-el-Bab as a barrier before the Medjerda Plain, carried to about 400 yards short of the crest in the initial operations.

Daniel de Luce, Associated Press correspondent, reported from the front that the British shock troops went in at four o'clock yesterday afternoon in an urgent effort to smash this last important obstruction between them and the Tunisian Plain, charging behind an heavy Allied artillery and bomber barrage.

BRITISH SEIZE TWO SMALL SETTLEMENTS

In related fighting to the east of Medjez-el-Bab British infantry, supported by Churchill tanks that beat back enemy flame-throwing tanks, seized the small settlements of Sidi Abdallah and Sidi Salem.

To the north, the American forces turned in important progress in the thrust toward Bizerte.

The three hills captured by the American Second Corps all command the road to Mateur and Bizerte—the Djebel Dardyss, seven miles from the western shore of Lake Achkel, one of two lakes which reach eastward to Bizerte; the Djebel Aired (Bald Hill) on the Mateur approaches; the Djebel Azzag, which flanks Green Hill, itself forming with Bald Hill a barrier across the Mateur road.

Dardyss was captured in an American charge through a shoulder-high tangle of gorse and runty trees. Aired and Azzag were stormed and seized in two columns of a single operation. The fall of Aired wrested from the Nazis one of their most formidable defenses on the approaches to Mateur. Green Hill, although remaining in enemy hands, was threatened by a flanking movement.

SHOCK TROOPS STORM KEY POINT

WITH THE BRITISH FIRST ARMY IN TUNISIA, April 27 (delayed) (CP)—British shock troops charged this afternoon against the Germans' key fortified point of Djebel Bou Aoukaz which dominates the centre of the Medjerda Valley and defends the southwestern approach to Tebourba, six miles distant. (Allied Headquarters dispatches described this mountain as twenty-one miles from Tunis.)

The infantry attack moved close behind a creeping barrage from scores of heavy and medium guns and less than fifteen minutes after Allied bombers had swung in at low level and blanketed the 700-foot height with explosives.

The Tommies flung themselves at the enemy's minefields in the face of blazing mortar and machine-gun fire, while overhead a powerful protective escort of multi-engined bombers coolly flew through a black field of bursting flak and loosed their heavy cargoes.

Smoke and dust from the crashing raid drifted across the green valley like fog. Djebel Bou Aoukaz appeared to be smoking as if from a hundred volcanic fissures.

STUBBORN AND COSTLY FIGHT

The battle for this height was as stubborn and costly as for Long Stop Hill last week-end, but British fighting men were determined to smash this final important barrier between them and the Tunis Plain.

The decisive Allied break-through in Tunisia may suddenly occur in the next few days, but thus far Gen. Sir Harold Alexander's Eighteenth Army group offensive, which led off with the Eighth Army's Enfidaville drive a week ago, has been like a series of jabs and heavy lifts with a crowbar to move the enemy back from hill to hill.

At only three points has the enemy retired with little opposition—along the northern coast in front of the Moroccan Goumiers, the northern hills of the Medjerda Valley after their loss of Long Stop, and from Djebel Mansour southwest of Pont Du Fahs where they faced the pressure of Gen. Koeltz' re-equipped French.

Hepburn Near End of Term

TORONTO, April 28 (CP)—Mitchell F. Hepburn's leadership of the Ontario Liberal Party was nearing its conclusion tonight as party stalwarts from all parts of the province gathered here for the two-day Liberal Association convention which will have its climax Friday afternoon with the election of his successor.

As approximately 600 accredited delegates arrived for the long-awaited convention, Harry Nixon, member of the Legislature for Brant and former Provincial Secretary, appeared to be the pre-convention favorite.

Mr. Nixon, who resigned his Cabinet post when Attorney-General Conant succeeded Mr. Hepburn as Premier of the province last October, faces an active contest with Mr. Conant, Arthur W. Roebuck, another former Hepburn Cabinet minister and now member of Parliament for Toronto Trinity; Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Ontario Minister of Highways, and Walter Thomson, president of the Toronto Liberal Association.

Dr. A. D. Roberts, of Sault Ste. Marie, former Liberal M.P.P. for that riding, who was read out of the party by Mr. Hepburn in 1937, some weeks ago announced his candidature but has not campaigned actively for support.

Mitchell Hepburn was not expected to be in at his own retirement as party leader. It was understood he would submit his resignation by letter to the convention, and it was reported that what convention support he did command would be thrown Mr. Nixon's way.

Dies on Manoeuvres

DUNCAN, April 28 — Cowichan Rangers suffered their first casualty last night, when Frank Weaver, of Maple Bay, collapsed and died when on manoeuvres. The company had gone out on the Sherman and Ryall Roads in Somenos, and were making their way towards the Bishop's Oak Farm, through rather rough country, when Weaver appeared to stumble, and fell. First aid was administered, but without result.

As far as is known, Weaver had no relatives here.

DOG WANDERS 100 MILES

NANAIMO, April 28 (CP)—Just another case of "vagrancy" was solved by the Provincial Police when they picked up in this city—a dog! Reported lost by its owner, Clinton Wood, Forbidden Plateau, the animal had made its way nearly 100 miles to Nanaimo. "Bobby" is of a well-known canine family of Vancouver Island. His daddy was the famous "beer waiter" of Bowser, B.C., whose beverage room intelligence brought him newspaper headlines throughout the country.

STRIKES IN WARTIME

Labor and management engaged in wartime industry should both search for some other expedient than the stoppage of work while differences are being argued. The recent strike at the Ford plant at Windsor, where 17,500 men were affected, a transportation strike in a mid-West region across the border, which tied up ten communities and 100 war plants; and the existing threat of a mass strike in the soft coal industry of the United States are unfortunately only too prevalent examples of how this continent's effort can be checked at its full tide.

Those checks, no matter what their immediate cause and no matter on whose side the right is, are checks of our war effort. They benefit only the enemy. In the Windsor dispute it was announced that the disagreement arose over whether one man or two should be detailed to handle a heavy casting. Surely that was a dispute of physical fact, and one that could have been argued while work as a whole continued. The loss in man-hour days in wartime work is a loss that cannot be made up. It is gone for good.

Let us assume that the initial dispute in any instance is on one occasion the fault of management, and on the next attributable to labor. Such at least would be a fair assumption, however, that might vary in a particular industry, or indeed in a particular region. It can still be asked in all earnestness if a strike is the remedy, or if it is ever anything other than a loss, in times of national emergency such as these. Common sense can go far towards eliminating such stoppages in a united war effort. It is the will of the people that this be done.

TAMPERING WITH INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS

Without a doubt the most idiotic decree of the many issued by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board is that which makes it "illegal" to share rationed goods with needy neighbors. To insure that this is not done would need a veritable army of "common informers," or "stool pigeons," and, while the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has appealed to all to act in such a capacity, it is only those with the lowest concept of what ethics should be who would subscribe to such a purpose.

In the decree mentioned the Wartime Prices and Trade Board attempts to tell people what they have the right to do with that which is their own. In the case of tea, coffee, sugar, or any other rationed commodity, when coupons have been yielded up and the money paid, the foodstuff in question, or even the gasoline bought, becomes the outright property of the purchaser. What purpose he or she puts it to is not the business of the board, or of anyone else for that matter. This country is coming to a pretty pass when it is declared unlawful in any sense, in the matter of the necessities of life, for people to do what they will with that which is their own. It is doubtful if the authority of the board extends to such interference with the rights of individuals. It is at best a niggling procedure, though a very vital principle is involved. No wonder so many are becoming restive under the restrictions imposed by bureaucracy, some of which have not the remotest concern with the war effort, and are only decreed to gratify the bureaucratic lust for power. As to the instance noted, the law, if it can be called such, is more honored in the breach than in the observance. One of bureaucracy's accomplishments is to bring authority more and more into disrepute. That means an unfortunate state of affairs both for now and for the future.

CANADIAN UNITY

It is now more than a century since the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada were brought together in an uneasy legislative union which remained in existence during a period of twenty-seven years. In 1867 the Imperial Parliament passed a more comprehensive measure, the British North America Act, which effected a Federal union in the hope that a greater measure of national unity would be achieved, and since then the two great races, French and English, both proud of their Canadian citizenship, have dwelt peacefully side by side under a constitution which guarantees the rights and privileges of all.

The Fathers of Confederation entered upon their ambitious task inspired by the hope that social intercourse and political co-operation under just and equal laws would promote closer acquaintance, better understanding, and real friendliness between the two races. There can be no doubt that progress has been made in the direction of national unity and amity. Equally there is no doubt that many citizens of Canada, both French and English, still retain prejudices and antagonisms which should have been forgotten long ago. Men of good will in every walk of life are desirous of promoting the cause of national unity and amity. Our public men upon all suitable ceremonial occasions take the opportunity to speak appreciatively of the extent to which French and English have risen superior to petty differences and ancient grudges. Perhaps, however, some of those who plead for a better understanding between French and English are apt to minimize the real difficulties that lie in the way. For example, French-Canadians generally have little political sentiment outside the boundaries of Canada. The Empire was created by men of British blood and traditions. It signifies little to our French fellow-citizens. On the other hand, it is desirable to realize another important fact, namely, that Canadians of British extraction are generally imperialists, in the proper sense of that term.

Recently an eloquent advocate of Canadian unity in a radio broadcast said that all that is necessary to complete national harmony in Canada is for everyone to confine his political loyalties to Canada. The French in Canada, he pointed out, do not desire any political connection with France. They are Canadians first, last, and all the time. He recommended this attitude and sentiment to Canadians of British extraction, with the unspoken suggestion, presumably, that they ought to adopt a similar attitude towards Britain.

Canadians, French and English, would do well to ponder this doctrine. Analyze it with care, and realize what it involves. On the surface it has the fair appearance of consistency and equity. Inwardly searched, however, it reveals a serious defect. British-Canadians cannot accept any [illegible] similar in principle to that of the United Kingdom. Canada and Britain share allegiance to one Sovereign, and are parts of one Empire. If Canadians were to take the advice tendered them by the lecturer above mentioned they would have to terminate their allegiance to the King. In short, the proposal that Canadians should confine their political loyalty to Canada is nothing less than an invitation to scrap our Constitution, disrupt the Empire, and adopt a brand-new constitution of a pattern not yet clearly revealed.

THE ARMY HOCKEY TEAM

Although final triumph in the Allan Cup series eluded the Victoria Army team, all followers of hockey in this community will extend the heartiest congratulations to the local players for the excellent fight they made. This is the first time that a team from this part of Canada reached the Allan Cup finals; the first time that local players ever participated in the event at all. These facts, coupled with the character of the talent it was found possible to assemble here because men drawn from over Canada are stationed on this coast, will give a considerable fillip to interest in the game. The Army team won the finals of the Vancouver Island elimination contest and went on to represent the Canadian West, but it must be remembered that there were other teams in the local league of almost equal calibre to that which contested the finals of the Allan Cup. That means that much talent is available.

The conditions which made it possible for Victoria this season to make her imprint on the hockey world may not maintain after the war, but at least there is the incentive now to develop local players. There is no reason why, hereafter, Vancouver Island should not strive to be represented in all future Allan Cup series. The game has caught on in popularity, and in an amateur sense, in a way that would have been regarded as impossible a few years ago. This city in particular (and Nanaimo as well) has become hockey conscious. The interest aroused should be fostered. In no way can this be done better than through the development of local players. As long as the men of the services are stationed in force on this coast there will be no lack of talent. The long view, however, suggests that hockey should be taken up more seriously by residents here, or by those who, now in the services, will be returning here at the end of the war. In a sporting sense Victoria has been better advertised than perhaps ever before in that way by the exploits of her Army team.

SAVINGS NECESSARY

It is a strange turn in human affairs, especially on this continent, when Governments appeal to the people to save, not spend. After six previous war-purpose loans in Canada there are still some people who think there is somewhere a catch in it, that Governments in this have their tongues in their cheeks. Yet an examination of the record makes the necessity for such appeals plain. Canada is carrying only half the cost of her share in the war by taxation. The rest must come from somewhere. So it must be borrowed, but it cannot be borrowed if the people will not lend.

That alone would account for the Administration's interest in the matter. Canada's wartime programme is not a programme until it can be financed. Until then it is merely a wish, or a hope. If, through the action of the people, the other half of the programme can be managed, then it becomes an integrated plan, and Canada will contribute her full share in this, the gravest year of the war. The only other means of helping out taxation, already at very high levels, is by the issuance of paper; which means inflation, and inflation would ruin everybody.

For the people, however, there is another side to this appeal to save now. Its use to the country has been demonstrated, but the service to the individual has been only slightly stressed. It is common knowledge that war is followed by dislocation, want, and a shorter or longer period of undeniably hard times. This time, with post-war planning, it is hoped to eliminate some of that dislocation. It is idle, however, to think that we shall move from a global war into a business boom. That is not to be expected. Savings in the hands of the individual, then, take on a very real meaning. They can be used to stretch the gap to better days. A bond, then, is not only a weapon against the enemy, but also a direct and visible insurance in the home.

PROFESSIONALIZED

There is no higher authority in the golfing world than the Royal and Ancient Golf Club, St. Andrews. It has decreed that golfers, in accepting war saving certificates as prizes, forfeit their amateur status. This means, if the ruling of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club were to run on this continent, that many who now cavalierly regard themselves as amateurs have been professionalized. In the Old Country the Ladies Golf Union which had received queries from clubs asking if their status would be impaired by the acceptance of certificates, put the issue before the St. Andrews authority. The decision was: "The offer of war savings certificates in any form of golf competition is to be deprecated, and anyone competing for such a prize would be held to be 'playing for a money prize.' Accordingly, his, or her, amateur status would be forfeited."

Nature has lent us life, as we do a sum of money; only no certain day is fixed for payment. What reason then to complain if she demands it at pleasure, since it was on this condition that we received it?—Cicero.

He who thinks he can find in himself the means of doing without others is much mistaken; but he who thinks that others cannot do without him is still more mistaken.—La Rochefoucauld.

Men are apt to mistake the strength of their feeling for the strength of their argument. The heated mind resents the chill touch and relentless scrutiny of logic.—Gladstone.

"BAMBI"

The brothers Grimm and Hans Christian Anderson would have recognized in Walt Disney's sylvan fantasy, "Bambi" a genuine fairy tale, for all its absence of human beings. They would have marvelled at the technique and the glory of movement and color that make such [illegible] possible on the screen; but it, for one, believe they would have had their doubts about the "horrors." Must we have horror even with our fairy tales? Tragedy, slayings and holocaust make strangely curious fare in a fairy tale. They seem out of place.

For nine-tenths of its length "Bambi" is a beautiful and instructive story on the screen; the kind of a thing that young children will treasure in their minds for years, perhaps. The other tenth is quite apt to waken sensitive youngsters up in their cots screaming. Adults can, and do, laugh that off; but there is an age of the mind where that which is make-believe is most real, and what is seen with the eye cannot be explained away by the tongue. Not many hunters shoot does, even if the law would permit them to do so, and not many woodsmen set fire to the forest with their camp fires. Yet those are the only human beings that "Bambi" can muster, and they do duty for the whole race of mankind.

What the Grimms and Hans Anderson would inevitably have liked were the quaint and charming creatures of the forest; their quite natural ability to talk—however strange may be our understanding of them; the flowering woods in Spring, the whirling leaves in Autumn, and Winter's white mantle. They would have recognized Bambi, Thumper, and the Owl as genuine characters, and a fine part of a good fairy tale. They would have gloried in the Song of the Waters, and in the life of the old Stag.

Much of the charm of the pictorial representation of the Nut-cracker Suite in "Fantasia," and of the forest scenes in "Snow White," is seen in "Bambi." The device of having only woodland characters is a novel one, and it carries sufficient conviction for the purpose. It is not difficult to believe that the characters are real. Our sympathies are carefully solicited on their behalf, and then, unaccountably, we are cheated by their deliberate persecution, misfortune and the aforementioned horrors. The illusion of charm is swept away, and devastation grins at us from its blackened stumps.

From the photographic standpoint, "Bambi" is a triumph. It marks the advance of color on the modern screen. It incorporates, too, great diversity of camera-viewpoint, not possible in any other medium. The incidental music was well chosen, and contributes no little to the enjoyment of the piece. It is only in its surrender to "horror" that "Bambi" jars. There it descends to the level of today's comic strips, which are all very well in their way. But comic strips are not fairy tales. "Bambi" comes very close to being a distinguished and a beautiful fairy tale, and fairy tales are man's oldest art.

Flour Hoarding Now Banned—In order to prevent hoarding, or further to reduce wheat consumption in this country, so that Canada may send more to the Allies, where the cereal shortage is increasingly grave, the Canada Food Board today announced additional restrictions on holdings and use of wheat flour. The order provides that no person, with the exception of manufacturers of flour, bakers, confectioners, wholesale or retail dealers or persons living at a greater distance than two miles from a licensed dealer, shall hold or have in his possession, or under his control, more flour, made wholly or in part from wheat, than is sufficient to meet his requirements for a period not exceeding fifteen days.

A Supply of Pyrites—About fifteen tons of iron or copper pyrites will be required every week for the purpose of the Victoria Chemical Works when they get into full operation. The supply in this Province is practically unlimited, but as yet undeveloped. Samples from Barkley Sound have, however, given a very satisfactory analysis, and a contract has been made with Frank McQuillan for the delivery of a considerable quantity from that neighborhood.

Events That Shape History of World

By F. M. KELLEY

On the 200th anniversary of Thomas Jefferson's birth, recently commemorated in his homeland, frequent quotations were made of eight simple words attributed to him: "The earth belongs always to the living generation." Tersely put and mostly true. It might have been qualified, however, by adding that according to the way living generations perform, so are future generations apt to be guided.

We do inherit the earth, what there is of it, only through a sort of fee simple though undoubtedly divinely decreed. It is something to consider the present generation as trustees of the earth, even temporarily; but unless it can slough selfishness and its kindred doctrines and perfect some pattern for living, equitable to everyone, the daily way of life for succeeding generations will continue to be affected by events at present affecting us, some of which occurred years ago, one of the most important and far-reaching in point of time originating on the plains of Asia over 2,000 years since.

I remember sitting in the stateroom of an inbound Canadian Pacific liner one morning some years ago and hearing what I thought at the time was a far-fetched flight of fancy on the part of a traveler, very evidently a student of orientalisms as well as certain periods of wider world history. It all seemed fantastic at the moment; and yet, mulling over what was said since some unusual things happened the conclusion reached is that the traveler knew whereof he spoke and could discern in the shifting records of history, present as well as past, well-defined trends to substantiate his premises. He freely predicted that, what had taken place in Abyssinia, Spain, and was currently going on in China were but preludes to a general world conflict.

THE CHINA INCIDENT

The "China Incident" as Japanese preferred to call it, had been under way for some time; and, as will be remembered, there was considerable said by outspoken persons about how the Chinese were doing the dirty work for democracy and fighting our battles, while we, British and Americans, sided and abetted the aggressor. What was happening then in China would have repercussions which would undoubtedly have far-reaching consequences on the normal lives of man in the most remote places for a long time to come, the traveler contended, even as happenings originating in China centuries ago were still affecting the world.

"It is not the first time in the history of the earth as we know it that China has been mixed up in an affair which she was not responsible for starting. One such event affected mankind for ages and was by no means concluded twenty years ago when Germany had had enough for the time being. Something that happened in China over 2,000 years ago affected the lives of millions of people in Asia and Europe and is still affecting yours and mine, as I see things. The builder of the Great Wall of China, Emperor Ch'in, who gave his name to China, had a more or less direct bearing on events which are still in the course of tragic development on the other side of the Pacific.

"Ch'in, by the way, was the originator of the first league of nations, which he apparently dominated. Not being of the warrior type, and a peace-loving man, he saw in a union of racial interests freedom from the scourge of strife, and his persuasiveness was instrumental in bringing together all the Arabil heads of his then known world. For a time it worked well, but with hordes of barbarous Tartar horsemen constituting a threat of invasion, Ch'in realized that something more than words would be necessary to protect his country. So the Great Wall was started and completed—2,100 miles of it.

BARRIER TO THE TARTARS

"The building of that wall might well be said to have started a distinct period of world history. Fortunately or otherwise, it was finished before the Tartars were ready for the move on the fertile lands of China. Gathering in great numbers on the plains of Central Asia, once ready, they lost no time and pushed wildly eastward, but found when the wall was reached that their horses couldn't get over it. Nor could they breach it because of its massive construction, it being as high as a two-story house and wide enough at its top to accommodate two motor cars abreast.

"This is what happened then. Instead of overrunning China the Tartar hordes turned their horses' heads to the West again and penetrated the very heart of Europe and established themselves in it. They caused the fall of the Roman Empire and almost obliterated the civilization then known. Before their dominance faded in the Dark Ages the Tartars left a legacy of continuous trouble in the Balkans and are blamed for the presence of the Turks in Europe, where the position of the latter caused Gladstone considerable worry and the chiefs of the Allied Nations many a headache while the Great War was in progress. Had there been no Great Wall, the history of Europe might well have been different. Time holds the secret, of course, but from here it looks as though what is now happening in China will undoubtedly have some bearing on your life and mine. There's nothing superficial about what's going on there at present. Principles, vital to everyone of us, are at stake."

PRODUCTION OF EGGS

Sir,—At the last meeting of the Lower Island local of the Pacific Coast Poultry Producers' Association, I was asked to write to the local press about the coming to our next (eventually special) meeting of Mr. R. P. Forshaw, of the Faculty of Agriculture of the University of British Columbia, Vancouver, who will give a talk about a survey of the cost of production of eggs.

In setting a price which is being paid to the producer per dozen eggs for the millions of eggs which the Dominion Government has committed itself to ship to Britain (now in powder form), that cost of production is a bone of contention, that cost varies greatly on smaller and larger specialized poultry plants and farms all over Canada. To find a more reliable average cost, said Faculty of Agriculture has arranged with the P.C.P.P.A. for a survey, in which several members of our association, larger and smaller producers, will take part. Mr. Forshaw is in charge of that survey; the data collected will be tabulated, etc., at the U.B.C.

This is one more item in the series of activities of our association to try to make it possible for producers to stay in business and so to produce absolutely necessary food. In the two years this association has existed it has secured several concessions from Provincial and Federal Governments without which the whole poultry industry might have collapsed, with a resultant shortage or lack of eggs, etc., as we experienced in Victoria in December last.

We appeal, therefore, to all poultry producers to try to attend that forthcoming meeting at which Mr. Forshaw will speak, and to join the association. Remember, the cost of production set by that survey, may determine your standard of living for a considerable time.

A FIRELESS COOKER

Sir,—Now that warmer days are coming and fuel is still scarce it may interest some of your readers to know how to make a home-made "hay box" or fireless cooker which is useful for preparing dishes which need long cooking, such as baked beans and stews. At the next meeting of the Canadian Vegetarian Association, to be held on Friday, April 30, at 8 p.m. at the Women's Institute Rooms, 635 Fort Street, one of the men members will show how to make a "hay box." Mrs. J. Logie will speak on "A Vegetarian Nutrition Chart." Her talk will deal with food values, meat substitutes and correct food combinations. She will also give hints on "hay box" cookery. The meeting will be open to the general public.

FREEDOM OF DOGS

Sir,—Why shouldn't a dog be kept at the end of a chain or in a proper enclosure. If I own a horse, cow, goat, pig or other domestic animal I have to keep it under effective control, not turn it loose to annoy the community as dog owners think they have a perfect right to do, and if one of their pooches gets killed by a car they are very much annoyed about it.

C. G. BRIDGMAN.

FOOD FOR ANIMALS

Sir,—Lest animals should suffer more than they have already done through war rationing regulations, I enclose a recipe for a simple dog biscuit which animals appreciate. It was planned in the kitchens of Nina, Duchess of Hamilton, whose work for animals in peace and war is too well known to require elaboration. Such household scraps as meat, cake, bread, turnips, parsnips, swedes and other vegetables can be mixed, then rolled into thin cakes with flour or oatmeal and baked. Ferne, the country home of the Duchess, is a sanctuary for animals and care and feeding become major problems with the transportation difficulties. There is a large population at the shelter and similar difficulties afflict organizations doing the same war service for animals.

To make dehydrated foods more appetizing to an animal, they can be moistened slowly with hot water. After standing ten to fifteen minutes more hot water is added and the mixture kneaded by hand to bring out the flavor. This is the plan used by the veterinary and dietitian of the Philadelphia S.P.C.A. Water added to dry food and thrust at an animal will not tempt its appetite. The clean dish is also essential.

These little attentions may give extra trouble, but in the long run are worth the effort. Animals know nothing about "war guilt" but they are having to endure the results of man's conflict with man. We desire to help them when we can.

KEEPING DOGS IN ORDER

Sir,—With regard to the pounding of dogs there has been a lot of unnecessary fuss for and against the animal, but summing it up there is only one point clear, and that is, dogs, just as children, should be trained right if you wish the best of them. I am a dog lover, but I have seen them in the park and on the beaches. I have said then, as I say now, if dogs cannot be kept in order, clean and decent, they should not be allowed to prowl around making themselves a nuisance. They should be destroyed or found a decent home where they can be properly fed and taken care of.

Even at this late date there is still an army jeep roaring around the city with a 1942 licence plate . . . From "Cougar McGee": "A conference is a group of men who individually can do nothing but who as a group of men can meet and decide that nothing can be done" . . . The Wartime Prices and Trade [illegible] tioned supplies such as tea, coffee, butter and sugar for purely social affairs. Does that include club luncheons? . . . The Saanich Board of Trade has urged the City Council to declare Wednesdays full holidays so that citizens may be given an opportunity to assist on farms. In the first place, the city has no legal power to do so. In the second place, there is the question of transportation. Office workers with "AA" gasoline rations and thin tires would hesitate to drive long distances in the country. Perhaps the Board of Trade can tell us how they intend to get city folks to the farms . . . Ten rules issued in the United Kingdom to reduce absenteeism in war plants: "Be regular in your living habits. Get enough sleep. Get your share of fresh air and sunshine. Keep your mind and body active. Choose the right food and be moderate in drinking and smoking. Do not worry. Be kindly and moderate. Fight disease. See your doctor. Stop diseases from spreading. Help yourself to be well. Keep your mind and body in training." . . . According to a recent news item, the Henry J. Kaiser cement plant at Permanente has three large conveyor belts to carry limestone down a mountain two miles to be processed. Generators harnessed to the belts act as brakes and also produce sufficient power to crush and grind the limestone, operate a large power shovel, and furnish electricity for lighting the plant . . . According to The Centralian, published by students of Central Junior High School, a teacher asked a pupil for a definition of wasted energy. "Telling a hair-raising story to a bald-headed man," was the instant reply.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill at the Esquimalt Drydock at any tide, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

SET LIQUOR PRICES

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration intends to fix gross profit margins for wholesale and retail whisky dealers in the United States and set flat prices for "new" brands of liquors as part of a campaign against what officials called a "black market" in diminishing supplies of beverage spirits.

BOY RESCUED

KANSAS CITY, April 28 (CP)—Ray Firkens, twelve, was helping a neighbor with the ploughing. The tractor turned over and pinned him. Bobby Rice, nine, ran half a mile for help, brought back Mrs. Pauline Hastings. With their fingers, and a butcher knife—they dug for more than an hour. Ray emerged with only cuts and bruises.

According to Culbertson - - -

The best time for declarer to do his thinking and plan his campaign is before he plays the first card from dummy. As a matter of simple fact, a great many contracts depend solely on the choice of that card. For example:

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♦ A J 7 5 4
♣ A Q 10

WEST
♠ J 9 8 6 4
♥ K 8 4 3
♦ Q 8 6

EAST
♠ K 7
♥ Q J 9 8
♣ 9 7 6 4 3 2

SOUTH
♠ Q 5 2
♥ A 10 5
♦ K 10 3 2
♣ K J 5

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	Pass	2 N.T.	Pass
3 N.T.	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the six of spades and declarer, apparently without giving the matter serious consideration, automatically reached for a low card from dummy. From that time on he was in trouble. East won with the king and promptly shifted to the heart queen. Declarer held up his ace for two rounds and then, having taken it, was faced with the necessity of guessing the diamond queen in order to run nine tricks. Acting on the "rule" of not finessing when holding nine of a suit, he laid down the diamond king, then led to dummy's ace. The rule let him down in this case, however (how sad that it does this so often), and his ninth trick never materialized. The defenders took three hearts, a spade, and a diamond.

It was nothing short of criminal to lose this contract in a rubber bridge game. Declarer should have seen that if East had the spade king and could win the first trick, a heart shift would be inevitable. This would drive out his single heart stopper before the diamond suit was surely established and would place him at the mercy of a successful diamond finesse or drop. It was not at all important that declarer make two spade tricks instead of one, the vital feature was to guard against a heart shift. It would have been completely safe for declarer to put up dummy's spade ace at the first trick, then, to insure that East could not win the lead for a spade return through the queen, to take the diamond finesse from dummy up to the ten-spot. West, of course, would have won with his queen, but could have made no return that would have affected the contract. A spade return merely would have established declarer's queen.

Says Night-Day Raids May Greatly Shorten Conflict

R.A.F. Air Vice-Marshal Declares Results of Bombings Impress British and U.S. Officials

NEW YORK, April 28 (CP).—Air Vice-Marshal F. MacNeece Foster, of the R.A.F., said today in an address to the Canadian Club of New York that daylight precision bombing by American flyers and night bombing by the R.A.F. "may well greatly shorten the war in Europe."

While a few months ago the R.A.F. and the American Air Force "held somewhat different views as to the best method for bombing," Foster said, this is now the R.A.F.'s conception of the night and day bomber attacks.

"That they are both essential and complementary, and that, if carried out on the necessary scale, they are capable of producing decisive results which may well greatly shorten the war in Europe, with all the consequences that would follow, enabling us both to turn over our full weight upon Japan.

"The one great need for an effective air offensive by day over Germany is more aircraft. I know that this fact is equally appreciated in both Washington and London."

IMPRESSED BY NIGHT BOMBING

"The United States Army Air Forces," he continued, "have become increasingly impressed by the possibility of accurate night bombing due to the extraordinary development of technical instruments.

"The Royal Air Force has been correspondingly impressed by the development of day bombing. The raid on Vegesack—to take a single example—shows that day bombers are capable of accurate bombing of a highly frotified area, and that in the process day bombers have been able to take a heavy toll of the enemy fighters which attacked them."

LUFTWAFFE HAS REACHED PEAK

Foster remarked that Germany and Japan put much faith in the use of air power, and added:

"But now the air forces of our two great countries, and those of Russia, have taken up the challenge. The Luftwaffe is a great and formidable foe, but it has reached its peak and has entered on its decline.

"The air forces of the Allies, on the contrary, are in process of active expansion—both as regards production and operational development on the field of battle."

He said nearly 100,000 airplanes would be built in the United States this year, an increase of nearly 50,000 over 1942, and said that "management and labor must be prepared for idle plants in wartime."

He said idle plants provide flexibility so that "if a sudden need arises we will have them available."

Back to Chase E-Boats Again

Vancouver Man in Command Overseas

A BRITISH PORT, April 28 (CP).—Ready to take on more German E-boats, with which he has had two years' experience, Lieut. John A. McCutcheon, of Vancouver and Calgary, is back for more naval duty on motor torpedo boats after foreign service leave in Canada.

"We had many running gun fights with E-boats in the Channel but our craft always proved the better," he said. "The E-boats are not as fast and I'm convinced they are more scared of us than we are of them. Most of our work was done right under the nose of the enemy and they didn't know it. We usually operated at night, the darker the better."

PRAISES MOTOR TORPEDO BOATS

He praised the motor torpedo boats and motor gunboats for their defensive and offensive ability. Their defensive work consisted of patrolling between convoys and the enemy coast to prevent the enemy from attacking. Their offensive work was in "sweeping enemy coast-lines for anything we could find."

A member of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club, McCutcheon went overseas as an ordinary seaman in the Fall of 1940, and a short time later was promoted to commissioned rank. Before going on leave he was in command of his own boat.

"Very few of our boats have been lost," he added. "They can take lots of knocks."

Victorian Loads Up Desert Spitfire

CANADIANS attached to the Royal Air Force are participating in every phase of the rout of the Luftwaffe over North Africa and the Mediterranean. And, in addition, a distinctive Royal Canadian Air Force squadron, equipped and maintained by Canada, is based on the Western Desert. Tested and not found wanting in sweeps over the British Channel and Northern France, the Spitfire squadron took to desert warfare with ease. It has done its share in hammering Rommel's transport and troop concentrations and in clearing the skies of his air support.

In the above picture two armorers, L.A.C. A. Tyas, of Mission City, B.C., left, and L.A.C. M. Faryon, of Victoria, check over a cannon magazine before loading it into "P for Peter" Spitfire in the Western Desert. L.A.C. Faryon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Faryon, 534 Dunedin Street, and joined the R.C.A.F. more than two years ago. He has been on overseas service for the past sixteen months. Before enlisting he was a school principal in Saskatchewan.

Too Much Loose Talk on Ships

Navy League Will Secure Posters

VANCOUVER, April 28 (CP).—The Navy League of Canada will apply to Washington for 500 copies of a United States poster warning against careless talk regarding ships, and will distribute them "in the right places throughout Canada," the league decided at its annual convention here today.

Protesting there is "too much loose talk here about ship movements and people must keep their mouths shut," K. J. Burns, of Vancouver, displayed the poster which shows a lifeless seaman sprawled on a desolate beach. Underneath are the words: "A careless word—needless loss."

URGES HOLDING OF NATIONAL CONFERENCE

A national conference of Sea Cadet commissioners to consider Sea Cadet matters was urged by Lloyd T. Spalding, of Montreal, director, Sea Cadet Corps, Dominion council of the league. He said the conference was essential "if we are to take our rightful place in the youth training movement."

Mr. Spalding said his organization was told it would be "almost impossible" to establish a Sea Cadet Corps in the city of Quebec, but he was proud to say "we have a unit in that city of 150 cadets and it may not be too much to predict that by this time next year its number will be increased to 300."

Rail Workers Asking for More Wages

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP).—The National War Labor Board today heard and reserved judgment on applications from shop employees of two suburban electric railways for wage increases.

In one application employees of the Montreal & Southern Counties Railway, a Canadian National Railway [illegible] union—C.N.R. System Federation, No. 11 (A.F. of L.)—for increases of from ten to twenty-six cents an hour for various classifications of shop workers.

In the second application the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America (A.F. of L.) asked for similar increases for shop employees of the Grand River Railway, Lake Erie & Northern Railway and Canadian Pacific Transport Company, all Canadian Pacific Railway subsidiaries, in Galt, Ont., and Preston, Ont.

A similar application has also been received by the board from shop employees of the Niagara, St. Catharines & Toronto Railway, of St. Catharines, Ont.

Mr. Justice C. P. McTague, chairman of the board, indicated it would probably be found necessary to hear all the cases before a decision could be given.

Air Mail Service May Be Restored Across Atlantic

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP).—P. T. Coolican, general superintendent of postal services, said today there is a "possibility" that it may be possible to restore trans-Atlantic air-mail service some time next month.

The service would be from New York and would be carried in United States planes, the superintendent said. It was anticipated that as the weather improved additional air service across the Atlantic might be available.

Civilian air mail facilities were withdrawn last year when commercial air transport over the North Atlantic route was abandoned.

Believe Flyer Dead in Crash

VANCOUVER, April 28 (CP).—An R.C.A.F. flyer is believed to have been killed Monday night in the crash of his single-seater plane in Malaspina Strait, twelve miles northeast of Powell River, R.C.A.F. authorities said today.

Oil slick on the strait near Savary Island was the only trace of the plane, which was reported in difficulties shortly after 10 p.m. The pilot was instructed to head for Powell River and bail out when he observed a spotlight which would be shone from a dock, but no trace of him has been found.

Salmon Prices Turn Downward

SEATTLE, April 28 (CP).—Salmon prices dropped on the Seattle Fish Exchange today, and bidding on large receipts of halibut indicated a similar trend.

Prices on salmon ranged from 39 1-2 to 41 1-2 cents a pound, compared with an all-time peak of 51 1-2 cents set Monday.

Sixteen vessels arrived from deep sea banks with a total of 435,000 pounds of halibut, and bids ranged from 17 to 17 5-8 cents a pound, with no sales completed at noon. Highest halibut price on the Seattle Fish Exchange this season was 36 5-8 cents a pound.

Five Freighters To Be Launched By Quintuplets

SUPERIOR, Wis., April 28 (CP).—Admiral E. S. Land declared today that launching of five ocean freighters by the Dionne quintuplets here May 9 would testify to the great pride that Canada shares with citizens of the United States in the production records of American shipbuilders.

The Quints will christen the five vessels, built for Great Britain under lend-lease at the Walter Butler shipyards with each ship bearing the name of one of the Quints.

"It is significant, too, that the five ships which these young ladies will christen are destined soon to be in the service of that great Empire of which their own native land is a part," said Admiral Land in a message to the company. The admiral is chairman of the United States Maritime Commission.

"It inspires in not only the American people but in all of the United Nations a confidence which will not countenance defeat," Land added.

A Pimple Covered Face... Kills Many a Romance

The lives of many young people are made miserable by the breaking out of pimples, and you probably know of cases where a promising romance has been spoiled by those red, white, festering and pus filled sores on the face.

The trouble is not so much physical pain, but the mental suffering caused by the embarrassing disfigurement which very often makes the sufferer ashamed to go out in company.

The quickest way to get rid of pimples is to improve the general health by a thorough cleansing of the blood.

Burdock Blood Bitters helps to cleanse the blood and with the blood cleansed the complexion should clear up.

Preparation for Marriage Course Opens at Y.W.C.A.

The preparation for marriage course, sponsored each year by the Y.W.C.A., will open today with a panel discussion on courtship and the questions involved in it.

According to an official, excellent leadership has been secured for the five lectures, beginning today and continuing through May, at 8 o'clock in the "Y" Building. Mrs. D. L. McLaurin, chairman of the Woman's Round Table, is in charge of the first lecture period, with Mrs. Marian Rumper, Mrs. John Price and Mrs. D. Paul assisting her.

"Now that all life is geared to war, new problems have arisen for girls and young women. The debatable question of whether one should marry now or wait until after the war, and the question of changing standards, will be discussed at the first meeting," said an official. Girls who have decided to marry, in most cases men in the services, are faced with the problem of adjusting to 1943 living. The questions involved in this subject will be discussed in succeeding lectures by the following people: Mr. W. R. Foster, assistant pathologist of British Columbia; Miss Elizabeth Lawson, dietitian of Jubilee Hospital, and Dr. Henrietta Anderson, professor of psychology with the Provincial Normal School.

The course has been arranged by the girls' work department of the Y.W.C.A. and a committee of women including Mrs. A. Campbell, Mrs. Marian White, Mrs. John Price and Miss Mary Westwood, girls' work secretary. Mrs. Jack Stevenson is chairman of the course.

The traditional Spring banquet, which is planned by the Senior Girls' Council of the Y.W.C.A. to observe the closing of Winter activities and the opening of the Summer programme, is to be held at the "Y" on May 13. Instead of the usual banquet, the new American wartime measure, "dessert supper," will be substituted. The committee in charge is planning an interesting programme with all clubs taking part. Special guests are eing invited for the occasion. Those on the planning committee are Misses Joy Harness, Isabel Haigh, Mary Enoch, Marjorie Crowe, Marjorie Fanstone and Kay Steele.

Weddings

BRIGGS—ROSS

St. Aidan's United Church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday evening when Rev. T. G. Griffiths united in marriage Margaret Ann, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Ross, Mount Tolmie, and Mr. Frederick W. Briggs, third son of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Briggs, 2075 Kings Road. Mr. P. Boorman was at the organ, and during the signing of the register Miss Barbara Dawson sang "Because." The radiant bride was given away by her father and wore a princess gown of white spider-cut sheer over taffeta, with long pointed sleeves, and her finger-tip veil fell from a sweetheart halo headdress with a cluster of orange blossom at each side. She carried a round bouquet of baby pink rosebuds and white heather centred with Calla lilies and showered with pink rosebuds. The matrons of honor were the bride's sisters, Mrs. H. P. Attwell and Mrs. F. J. Vey, wearing two-piece turquoise blue frocks and flower hats trimmed with veils, who carried bouquets of two-toned pink carnations and heather tied with blue and pink ribbon. Their little nieces, Margaret Jean and Patricia Ann Ross, were flower girls in Ann Hathaway frocks of pink and blue taffeta respectively, trimmed with ruching in the contrasting color, and crownless bonnets tied with long streamers. They carried Victorian posies of pink rosebuds, white heather and forget-me-nots. Mr. Alex Briggs supported his brother, and another brother, P.O. Stanley G. Briggs, R.C.N., and the bride's brother, Mr. David Ross, were ushers. The reception was held at "Roseonner," the home of the bride's parents, where piano selections were played by Miss Barbara Fraser. The candle-lit supper table was centred with the cake set in folds of pink tulle, and at each corner were vases of pink and white carnations. Mr. Thomas Ross gave the toast to his sister. Following a honeymoon Up-Island and on the Mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Briggs will make their home at the corner of Pacific and Thompson Avenues. For traveling the bride chose a turquoise blue outfit with a brown squirrel coat, cocoa brown accessories and a corsage bouquet of pink roses and heather.

RATION NEWS

Meat Rationing by Chart

Meat Coupon Value Charts will shortly be published in the press and will be supplied to retail stores that sell meat. The chart will explain clearly the number of Coupons which must be surrendered for each cut of rationed meats. It is necessary to cut Canadian consumption of meat by about 15 percent. This will allow approximately two pounds per person per week, carcass weight. The brown Spare "A" Coupons in Ration Book 2 will be used for the meat ration.

Butter Coupons

Butter Coupon No. 7 which became good on April 24, does not expire until May 31. Coupon No. 8 becomes good on May 1; Coupon No. 9 on May 8. Both Coupons expire May 31.

Spare Sugar Coupon

Dates for marketing rhubarb vary in different parts of the country. But this does not prevent housewives from using their No. 1 Spare "B" (blue) Coupon now for the extra pound of sugar for this purpose. This Coupon expires May 31. Your dealer has no right to insist you buy rhubarb when you use this spare sugar Coupon.

Wartime Emergencies

Branches of the Ration Administration can supply all information necessary to anyone seeking rationed food supplies in situations arising as wartime emergencies. Special arrangements have been made to meet such situations and anyone may obtain the necessary information and application forms at Ration Branches.

Small Arms Ammunition

The manufacture of cartridges for civilian requirements is being cut to about one-third of ordinary quantity. Fifty percent of the amount manufactured is being allocated to remote areas in the far North where people rely to a large extent on the hunting of game for food and for their livelihood. Any person may use whatever ammunition he has on hand but cannot buy ammunition without completing a certificate to establish that he is an authorized purchaser. The supply situation is such that small arms ammunition is not available for sporting purposes.

Barter or Exchange of Rationed Commodities

The Ration Orders explain how rationed commodities may be acquired: Consumers may only acquire rationed commodities by surrender of Coupons whether the goods are paid for in cash or whether they are exchanged for other goods. Any barter or exchange of rationed commodities is considered as a purchase. Dealers in rationed commodities are described in the Orders and they are the only persons from whom rationed commodities may be obtained.

Varied Programme Given by Pupils of George Jay School

"Never a dull moment" was the expression used by an unusually large audience of parents and friends to describe the concert given by pupils of George Jay School recently. Proceeds were in aid of the school equipment fund and other worthy causes.

Following a gracious speech of welcome by Principal W. McMichael the programme opened with the singing of "O Canada" and a varied selection of numbers by the younger pupils, including a recitation by Alma Morris, a "Bunny Dance" by Marlene Pearce, and Nursery Rhymes sung by pupils of Grade I. In the latter number the winsome wee tots sang "Bobby Shafto," "Polly Put the Kettle On," "Lucy Locket," "Baa, Baa, Black Sheep" and "Pussy Cat, Pussy Cat, Where Have You Been?"

Children in Grade IV presented a fairy play, "The Rose Petal House," dainty fairies and elves enacting the various parts. A dramatized number, "The Farmer in the Dell," with charmingly rendered choruses followed. Outstanding characters were the farmer, the wheat, the sun, the rain and the wind. Another clever play was given by Grade IV pupils, "Twice Is Too Much" being a colorful sketch based on one of the stories from the "Arabian Nights." Grade VI children were most amusing in a skit called "Uncle Podger" in which this character endeavors to hang a picture with the assistance of the whole household. The costumes for a scene taken from "Alice in Wonderland" were striking and unusual and greatly appreciated by the audience. It was an interesting performance featuring Alice, the gryphon and the mock-turtle played by pupils of Grade V.

Folk dancing added to the gaiety of the entertainment and the item "School for Victory" was a timely presentation to encourage the sale of War Saving Stamps. The concert closed with a stirring march and songs, pupils of Grades V and VI taking part. All participants were smartly costumed to represent the three services bringing the varied programme to a fitting close.

Pretty Pinafores Make Party Dresses

Pretty pinafores make party dresses when they are of crisp rayon taffeta or of crepe with peasant embroidery or applique. Worn with them are soft blouses, such as these shown here, with round draw-string neckline. The blouses may have sleeves short or long. Pinafores are becoming to all young girls, and so deserve the great popularity they will undoubtedly have this Summer.

Every Woman's Job Is to Save Family Clothing

E. BETH BLAIR

Every woman knows that she is not doing her part in the war effort unless she puts every possible endeavor into conserving her clothes, those of her husband and children, and the household items that come under her care. It is not an easy task, but it is well worth while. Every garment saved releases that much material and labor for another garment. Though we may have plenty now, we will bless our frugality if and when the pinch eventually comes.

It's the small things that count—keeping a wardrobe in order at all times, brushing, airing, cleaning, laundering, mending little threads that if left unmended will grow into a large rip or tear. With good care the clothes you have will grow old gracefully, and new things will be assured a long life of usefulness.

RULES FOR CLEANING

One of the most important points in the care of clothing is to know when to launder, and when to dry-clean. It's generally a safe bet that cottons will launder, unless they have special finishes, or are designed to be dry-cleaned, in which case the garment will have a tag on it to tell you so. With rayons, it is safer to have they dry-cleaned, unless the store tells you specifically that it can be laundered, and gives you directions. Again, refer to you tags, or ask when you purchase, for you can save many small tragedies by being forearmed with information.

In any case, patronize a skilled and reliable dry-cleaner, who can determine the fibres used, and treat them right. Do not expect the impossible of him, however, and take up questionable points, discussing them thoroughly before you trust garments of uncertain cleaning qualities to any method. Be sure that buckles, buttons and belts are safe for cleansing, and remove them if you are doubtful. If belts are backed with leather, call this to the cleaner's attention, and ask him to use special care, or do not send the belt, if it is in a dark color.

Many woolens may be washed, but you must exercise special care, and must know just how to do it. If there is a question of the garment getting out of shape it is better to pay for dry-cleaning than to ruin a costume. In washing, close all slide fasteners and remove any non-washable trimming before you launder.

Hanging clothes correctly is a conservation measure, too. Hang each garment on a hanger as soon as you take it off, and air thoroughly before putting away, unless your closet is well ventilated. When you can, allow a dress to "rest" a day before wearing it again, alternating your clothes for longer wear. This cuts down the amount of pressing needed, too.

Use hangers that are long enough, so that the dress does not slip off at the shoulders, as that will stretch them out of shape. Fasten the dress down the front, or at strategic points so that it will hang straight. Hang belts separately, as their weight often pulls a dress out of shape. Such little details cut down pressing, and keep clothes looking well, much longer. Hang separate skirts on a hanger wide enough to hold the belt out straight. If you must fold it, fold both sides back leaving the centre front and back free of folds.

If you do not sew well, any tailor will put such clever patches on elbows or other worn places, that you'll never see them. Some smart women glorify their patches by making crossed or fancy appliques on elbows, using a piece from the hem for the reinforcement. See that buttons are on enough fabric so that they will not pull out, and mend any threads that pull on buttonholes. Watch seams for pulling, and hems for ripping. Check buttons on new dresses, and those just home from the cleaner, as a stitch in time often saves the button, and keeps the dress looking its pretty best.

Many Fine Artists Featured in Show Given by Rotary

The Rotary show, featuring the Royal Canadian Navy Band, was given last night in the Royal Victoria Theatre, before a capacity audience, numbering many visitors from across the line.

Among the selections given by the Royal Canadian Navy Band was a particularly fine arrangement of prairie melodies "Cowboy Rhapsody" (M. Gould)" and a delightfully humorous interpretation of "Swanee River" as played on the parade ground and in various centres.

Gunner Charles Hovey sang several numbers, among them "Oley Speaks' "On the Road to Mandalay" (Kipling).

Roller skaters Betty Clair, Marilyn Seki, Arnold Hornby and Harry Hornby performed dangerous whirls with professional smoothness.

Songs by the Royal Canadian Navy Male Chorus under S. B. A. Alan Thompson; selections by the Royal Canadian Navy dance orchestra; a piano novelty by Len Acres and Rotarian Al Smith, and a clever sketch featuring Miss Bunty Hannigan and Rotarian Art Kerr rounded out a programme that well deserved the praises of District Governor Fred K. Jones, who thanked the artists and the Victoria Rotarians for "as fine an entertainment as ever given here."

Rev. G. E. Graham, R.C.N. chaplain, H.M.C.S. Naden, was the master of ceremonies.

Suzy-Q Gunner Takes a Bride

SPOKANE, Wash., April 28 (CP)—Warrant Officer John A. Irons, tail gunner of the famed Flying Fortress, Suzy-Q, was married here today to Miss Margaret Bertleson, of Humboldt, Iowa.

Col. Felix M. Hardison, the plane's commanding officer, said Irons was "sent to the United States by his people in England to prevent his joining the R.A.F. But he joined the United States Army Air Corps and was with the Suzy-Q on its world combat tour."

Sum of $355 Voted By Hospital W.A. To Purchase Blinds

The executive committee of the Women's Auxiliary of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, at the monthly meeting held on Wednesday afternoon at the Nurses' Home, Mrs. Thomas Miller presiding, voted the sum of $355 for the purchase of Venetian blinds for the fourth and second floors in the central block of the new building, an appeal for which had been received from Miss Mitchell.

Mrs. R. J. Jameson announced that the total net results of the tag day amounted to $1,722.41. The committee expressed the gratitude of the auxiliary to the general public, taggers, the press and all those who assisted in making the tag day a success. Mrs. Sheppard, treasurer, reposted that total net receipts from the rug contest amounted to $91.75, and that an additional $8 in cash had been received for the recent linen shower. The sewing committee reported a total of 174 pieces completed during April.

After hearing Mrs. P. R. Brown's interesting account on hospital visits and the recommendation that lounging garments be provided men patients in the annex, the committee voted to purchase twelve suits of overalls for this purpose.

Mrs. W. J. V. Church reported that the buying committee had purchased flannelette, krinklette and marquisette for the hospital.

Final arrangements were made for the ribbons, refreshments and transportation in connection with the nurses' graduation exercises next week.

The committee also voted that preliminary plans be made for the annual membership drive for one week, beginning on June 5, with Mrs. P. E. Taylor as convener.

The next monthly meeting will be held on May 26.

Most Stores in Vancouver Will Close Wednesdays

VANCOUVER, April 28 (CP)—Representatives of the majority of classifications of retailers in Vancouver have decided to close their stores all day Wednesdays with the aim of curtailing sales and providing rest for employees doing extra war work and planting Victory gardens.

Date for the first all-day-Wednesday closing was not set. Grocers and meat dealers' representatives declined to give approval of the plan at the meeting but it is expected they will agree after separate meetings.

Two department stores, Woodward's and Spencer's, began last week to close all day Wednesday. The Hudson's Bay store closes at noon Wednesday and at 4 p.m. Saturday.

"Dina Cashman"

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER XV

The atmosphere had changed in the last five minutes. All the joy, the love, and tenderness had gone out of Tom's face, leaving it dark and hard.

"You tell me he doesn't know?"

"Well, I couldn't say it right out. I couldn't write the truth," she explained hastily. "He's the mother, and she's—she's one of those tough women, I imagine. But I did write him—I sent him a handkerchief at Christmastime, the nicest I could buy in San Jose, and with the letter I said that he simply had to see me before he went away, that I was worried. He must have known from that. But he didn't say anything about it when he answered. That was just after New Year's, and I haven't had a letter since."

"Where is he now?"

"In New Haven, I guess. I don't know the address."

She was silent and Tom silent, too. His face, as he stared into space, was black.

"This is his affair," he began presently. "No one else can take it on. It's happened, and he's responsible. He's got to know."

Among all her other shamed and confused thoughts Dina was conscious of terror. Tom wasn't going to take it upon himself to notify him!

"It's mine, it's always the woman's," she said quickly and proudly.

Tom put his head down in his hands for a minute, rumpled his thick black locks. When he looked up his face was haggard.

"I don't get it," he said; "I don't get your failing for a guy like that. Has he money?" he demanded suddenly, looking up.

"Not of his own, I think. His mother gets alimony; I don't know how much. You see, she married again after she and his father were divorced—"

"I don't want to know what they did!" Tom interrupted with distaste.

"I mean that she forfeited what his father was paying her when she remarried. His father is rich—very rich, I believe. He expects Vere to become a lawyer and go in with his firm in New York, but he says he won't give him anything more until he gets his degree."

"He's not a bit what you think. He's generous and affectionate and terribly—terribly nice," Dina mustered spirit enough to say appealingly, "It—it was my fault, too. It wasn't anybody's fault—really!"

"Suppose not." Tom sighed. No use to blame her, to rage and scold now. "You'll have to let him know," he said.

"How can I? A girl from Railway Flats, with perhaps—perhaps all—all this coming on me in midsummer! Think what it would do to him! I couldn't bear it—she stopped, choking.

"If there should be a child, don't you see what you do to the kid?" Tom asked, his eyes sick with pity.

"But, Tom—but, Tom," she stammered, "it's not fair! it's not fair!"

"No," he said quietly, "of course, it's not fair. Yet if I say to you that you and I'd get married, that we'd go ahead just as if everything was—was all right, that wouldn't be fair either."

"To you," she said quickly, her face aflame.

"To any of us," he answered soberly. "I—how would I feel about the baby? How would you?" We'd [illegible]

She had never seen him in this mood before. Tom was a grown man today, sorrowful, quiet, and wise. All his Irish nonsense had dropped from him. Both had put something of the past away forever in this hour, and lightly as she had valued it, Dina felt terror and heartache as it went.

"Tom," she asked him simply and pitifully, "what shall I do?"

"You'll have to join him, since he isn't here to join you," Tom told her.

"I can't do that!"

"Don't you see you have to, Dina? I'll give you the money. You find where he is and simply go East and tell him all about it."

Dina sat silent. Her thoughts were one wild protest, but it was no use to waste them on Tom. Unless Vere wrote her or wired her to come she knew well that she would never have the courage to follow him.

She could not turn their joyous young love idyll into the burden, the wreckage that it would mean to a hopeful young lawyer to have a sick," despairing woman suddenly appear with a claim upon him.

And that claim, she thought now with a kind of frenzy, was daily becoming more obvious, less concealable.

"When you meet him, tell him that as soon as you're married you'll come back here," Tom was saying; "make it a secret. Tell him that you'll never be a burden on him."

Hope flooded her heart.

"But what'll they think here?"

"You'll have to go away. San Francisco perhaps, or Oakland. A big place where you can get lost. Then you'll have to land a job."

"There'll be weeks—months, when I can't work."

"That part," she said, staring ahead of him with darkened eyes, "we'll manage somehow."

"It's—it's something to do," she said. "It'll kill me, but I can do it! And then I'll go on alone. Other girls have—they've worked it out!"

"Dina," said her mother appearing in the doorway, "there isn't one single thing in the house for lunch. Hello, Tom; where'd you come from? Say, you two look like you'd been quarreling."

"Dina and I don't quarrel," Tom said, standing up. "Nothing in the house for lunch, hey? We'll go over to the dairy and we'll get eggs or something."

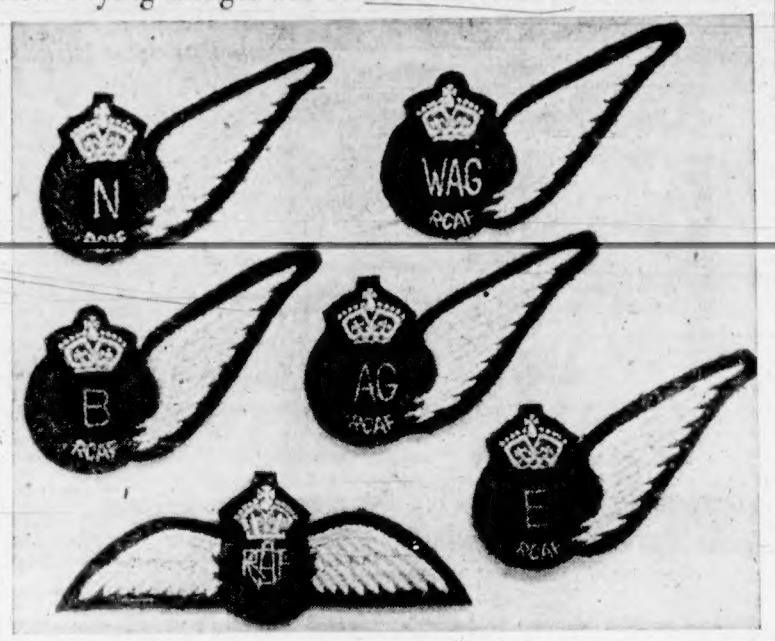
NEVER HUMDRUM

PRINCE RUPERT, April 27 (CP).—Life at the Wartime Prices and Trade Board office here never becomes humdrum. There was the case of the woman who reached into her handbag for a handkerchief and exposed therein a dozen chocolate bars. Another woman wanted to know if she could get a beef allowance for her new-born baby.

New Flying Badges for R.C.A.F. Bomber Crews



ROYAL Canadian Air Force air crews will ride the skies with even more distinctive flying badges than before. Air force headquarters has released the above official patterns for new air crew insignia—the familiar double wing for pilots remains unchanged but each member of a bomber crew will now be identified by a key letter or letters—"N" for navigator; "B" for air bomber; "WAG" for wireless operator air gunner; "AG" for air gunner and wireless mechanic (air gunner); "E" for flight engineer. Together they make up the formidable fighting teams that are bombing and blasting Nazi bases and supply lines paving the way for offensives yet to come. The official announcement of these new badges points out that from this date onward graduates in air training schools throughout Canada will receive one of these new official patterns according to their particular job in air crew. Airmen who have earned the old familiar "O," "AG" and "RO" badges, prior to release of these new designs are still permitted to wear their original insignia. This will be good news to the superstitious flyer who wears his original, highly-prized flying badge until it is threadbare believing implicity in its good luck qualities.

Ontario Beer Goes on Ration Coupons Soon

TORONTO, April 28 (CP).—Hon. St. Clair Gordon, chairman of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario, tonight announced in a statement that an individual beer rationing system will become effective in Ontario on or about May 17 with coupons allowing an estimated limit of thirty-six pints or the equivalent a month.

Beer ration coupons will be issued to residence consumers, each coupon good for one unit—six small bottles—and the maximum quantity purchasable at any one time will be twelve quarts or the equivalent.

The statement said that the individual rationing for residence consumption is a logical step following the already curtailed supplies to public beverage rooms which now are operating on shorter hours. The legal closing time is 11:30 p.m. but most places are closing early in the evening when supplies run out. There also is an obligatory closing time of from 2 to 4 p.m. in the afternoon.

The ration books will be issued without charge and prior to their issuance every civilian resident will be compelled to submit his national registration certificate for endorsation and in the case of a member of the armed forces, his identification card. The books will not be transferable nor replaceable if lost or damaged.

There have been no restrictions on the home consumer up to the present time other than the fact that supplies have been curtailed at the places of sale.

PROTEST SUPPORTED

POWELL RIVER, April 27 (CP).—Strong protests of Fraser Valley boards of trade and municipal officials in that area against aquisition by conscientious objectors of farm land left by men serving in the forces has received support of Powell River and District Board of Trade. Basis of the protest is that "conchies" can buy land while men discharged from the forces are unable to do so under the Soldier Settlement Plan until after the war.

Teachers Seek Higher Salary

EDMONTON, April 28 (CP).—Expressing appreciation of recent Provincial legislation which raised minimum salaries of Alberta teachers from $840 to $900 a year, the Alberta Teachers' Association in convention late today adopted a resolution calling for Federal aid to make an even higher minimum possible.

The resolution said that low salaries are driving many teachers from the profession and that present conditions make higher salaries "vitally necessary."

It asked the provincial executive to work for a higher schedule and that "the provincial executive demand Federal aid in order to make this a reality." The provincial executive was asked to draw up a provincial salary schedule "high enough to attract and keep a well-qualified provincial teaching staff."

The convention also authorized the executive to obtain information concerning group insurance and hospitalization schemes and adopted a resolution urging a broadening of the new scale of increased provincial grants to include town schools. At present the new schedule of grants was earmarked for divisions only, and A. G. Andrews, secretary of the Alberta Trustees' Association, said some aid should be given the town schools.

In another resolution, the convention extended congratulations to J. McCrea, president of the Vegreville Teachers' Association, and his executive and teachers of the Vegreville division "on the courageous stand which they took in their efforts to improve the financial position of their own group and of the teaching profession of Alberta generally."

The resolution referred to a strike by teachers of the rural Vegreville division last November, which closed [illegible] pupils classless for six weeks. The strike resulted from minimum salary dispute and ended in a compromise agreement between the teachers and the board, under which the former were given a cost-of-living bonus.

Would Revise System Of Allocating Supply

TRAIL, April 28 (CP).—The Kootenay Association of Municipalities meeting here today passed a resolution asking the Dominion Government to revise its system of allocating supplies to merchants to take into consideration an increase or decrease in population.

The association felt that inequalities were being worked in areas such as Trail, where an influx of new war workers were increasing the demand on available supplies.

The afternoon meeting of the association at which some twenty delegates representing Nelson, Rossland, Tadanac and Trail, were present, also discussed problems of education, finance and war risk insurance as they affected the municipalities. Several delegates pointed out that education costs were becoming the predominant item in municipal finance, and felt that the association should make an intensive study of the problem.

It was decided to hold the next meeting in Kaslo if possible, and failing that, in Nelson. The meeting will be held in July.

EAGLES WILL WORK OUT

A workout of the Eagles baseball team will be held tonight at the Royal Athletic Park at 6 o'clock. All last season's players and others interested in playing this coming campaign are asked to attend.

NO. 117—EIGHTY-FIFTH YEAR VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, THURSDAY, APRIL 29, 1943

Glancing Over Sport—

By JOE DELAHUNTY

THE DAY'S WASHING

Jim Henry comes out in the open and admits that Victoria scored a goal in the first period against the Commandos, but the light didn't flash on and the referees ruled that it was a face-off to the side . . . Well, I don't know whether or not "Sugar Jim" was kidding the reporter who entered the dressing room after the game or not, but I will guarantee that Henry did not utter those words, not if he listened to the schooling he had from any big-time coach or manager, and you all know that Jim was brought up under the watchful eyes of none other than Lester Patrick . . . Fans will still argue with you that if Bill Carse was in the middle of that line of Joffre Desilets and Elmer Kreller that the Victoria team might have won the series. Ladies and gentlemen, I still disagree with you. Carse, without a question of a doubt, was the brains of the local club; he laid his passes down accurately and at the opportune moment, knew how to draw the defence out and was the man behind the "trailer play" and several other offensives which always fooled the opposition. Carse or no Carse, the Commandos would have won that series, and Victoria's most dyed-in-the-wool backers will tell you and admit the same thing; when the chips are down those monied players are in there punching . . . I quote from a Toronto newspaper: "The Ottawa Commandos are the finest-and-strongest amateur hockey team in the game today, and at the same time the highest-paid simon-pures playing for the Allan Cup." That's a pretty potent statement coming from a sport writer who said he was in the know and was just telling the public what he picked up from an authentic source. Maybe there's a lot of truth in his statement at that; as I said before and will repeat, they are not playing for peanuts when something big is at stake.

ODDS AND ENDS

Remember when: Boston Red Sox refused the neat offer of $100,000 for pitcher and home-run hitter George Herman "Babe" Ruth? Well, sir, that was twenty-five years ago today, the year before the famous "black sox" scandal which involved the Chicago White Sox and Cincy Reds in a world series. Two years after that offer by Boston the famous Babe went to the New York Yankees with whom he played for fifteen years . . . Also remember when: The great Steve Donoghue, popular English jockey, then fifty-two years old, crowned his last season of racing by winning the One Thousand Guineas for the first time? That was six years ago. Donoghue was already six times winner of the Derby. Right now he is training French horses in England for this year's wartime programmes . . . Bill Dickey, veteran New York catcher, starting his sixteenth year behind the plate, has just 140 games to go before overtaking Gabby Hartnett's record of 1,790 . . . One boxing commission that appears right on the job is the Massachusetts board. It publishes after each important bout a chart of each judges' vote by rounds and the points awarded . . . Art Ross, manager of the Boston Bruins, is never asleep when hockey talent is around the corner. He already has Chuck Scherza, H. Bennett, goal tender, and Ken Smith, of the Oshawa Generals, on the reserve list of the Beantown ice squad . . . If you were to ask the best boxing fan in the country this question he would give you the wrong answer nine times out of ten: What was the largest crowd ever to watch a boxing match in the world? Here's the answer and it will surprise you: When Tony Zale fought a fellow named Billy Pryor, at Milwaukee, in 1941, the attendance was 135,132, believe it or not . . . Augie Sylvester, well known jockey around Prairie and British Columbia tracks, is now in the United States Navy and his riding days are over as the slick little rider is putting on lots of weight.

FROM HERE AND THERE

Now that the Kentucky Derby is just three days hence, let's just roam back over the winners of the Blue Grass classic from the year 1913 to 1942. Here's the list and their total winnings in brackets: 1913, Donerail ($15,171); 1914, Old Rosebud ($74,720); 1915, Regret ($34,093); 1916, George Smith ($42,885); 1917, Omar Khayyam ($57,010); 1918, Exterminator ($252,596); 1919, Sir Barton ($116,857); 1920, Paul Jones ($64,771); 1921, Behave Yourself ($58,775); 1922, Morvich $172,909); 1923, Zev ($313,040); 1924, Black Gold ($110,553); 1925, Flying Ebony ($62,420); 1926, Bubbling Over ($78,552); 1927, Whiskery ($108,566); 1928, Reigh Count ($178,170); 1929, Clyde Van Dusen ($122,112); 1930, Gallant Fox ($328,165); 1931, Twenty Grand ($261,790); 1932, Burgoo King $110,940); 1933, Broker's Tip ($49,600); 1934, Cavalcade ($127,165); 1935, Omaha ($154,705); 1936, Bold Venture ($68,300); 1937, War Admiral ($272,390); 1938, Lawrin ($126,275); 1939, Johnstown ($169,315); 1940, Gallahadion ($90,270); 1941, Whirlaway ($560,911); 1942, Shut Out ($238,972) . . . On Tuesday last the City Council sent telegrams to the mayors of Winnipeg, Calgary and Regina thanking them for the support given the Victoria hockey team during games in the Allan Cup series in the respective cities . . . Now that the hockey is over, the basketball series definitely off, there's nothing left for your columnist but to pick how the ponies will finish in the Kentucky Derby. However, I will leave that until the morning of the race, but I will tell you turf followers a secret. Count Fleet won't flash by the judges' stand the winner . . . Harvey "Busher" Jackson, who has been in big-time hockey for fourteen years, although only thirty-two, says he's through with the professional game. Jackson finished a successful season with Boston Bruins. He fired home nineteen goals and aided in fifteen others. Busher was a member of Toronto's famous "kid-line" of Jackson-Conacher-Primeau years ago.

Mort Cooper Shows Form

Allows One Run In Two Battles

ST. LOUIS, April 28 (AP).—Morton Cooper, the St. Louis Cardinals' ace right-hander, has yielded only one run in twenty innings so far this season, and apparently he should be the last pitcher in the world to object to the dead baseball.

Yet, he said today he wanted the lively ball back—that he could win more games with it.

Here's why: Although the opposition has scored a solitary run off Cooper, that was enough to beat him, 1-0 in eleven innings, at Cincinnati opening day. He blanked the Chicago Cubs here yesterday, 7 to 0.

Pitching a shut-out is no novelty for the Cardinal star. He did it ten times in winning twenty-two games last year. This season, with the Balata ball, shut-outs have been frequent.

"The dead ball favors the average pitcher," Cooper explained, "because it gives him an advantage he doesn't possess over the hitters, who can't drive it far and wide.

"It penalizes the better pitcher who could win with any kind of a ball because his team has difficulty getting him the runs he needs. The result is that a game can be decided by a break and the breaks frequently go against the better team.

"Why, with the dead ball, I believe Philadelphia would be as much a pennant contender as the Cardinals."

Mac Colville Heads Scorers in Series

Former Ranger Forward Top Sniper In Allan Cup Hockey Play-Offs

Finding the net for four goals and assisting in two others for a total of six points, Mac Colville, former winger of the New York Rangers, led the scorers in the Allan Cup hockey series which ended Tuesday night when the Ottawa Commandos ousted Victoria Army in Calgary in the fourth game, 2-0. Mac was only a single point in front of Joffre Desilets, the fiery-headed French-Canadian, according to the statistics released yesterday by Ivan Temple, secretary of the Vancouver Island Hockey League, who never misses anything when an ice play-off is on.

Desilets banged in five markers for his total, scoring two goals in a like number of important games and didn't spend a minute in the penalty box as against six minutes for the leader. Next on the list came George Agar, of the Winnipeg Army squad, who was picked up to replace the injured Victoria playing-coach, Bill Carse, with no goals and four assists, to be tied with Neil Colville and Terry Reardon, of the champions.

Five others totaled three points each and included in that group was Victoria's hero of the third game, Sammy Kennedy. Sammy split the Ottawa defence for the tying goal in the third fixture to send the battle into overtime and then came through with the pay-off marker after nine minutes of extra play. Others with three points were Nick Metz, Shibicky and "Bingo" Kampman, while George Poirier, Ken Kilrea and Elmer Kreller all checked in with two points each.

HENRY HAS BEST AVERAGE

Jim Henry's average for the four games was 2.75, permitting eleven shots to hit the twine and Art Rice-Jones averaged 3.75 for fifteen tallies. Two of these goals against Rice-Jones were scored when Victoria had pulled out the netminder.

Victoria players spent forty-four minutes in the cooler and the Commandos only thirty-two during the four games.

Ortiz Knocks Out Lupe Cordoza in The Sixth Round

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 28 (AP).—Manuel Ortiz successfully defended his world bantamweight championship tonight by knocking out blood-smeared Lupe Cordoza in the sixth round of their scheduled fifteen-round fight.

Cordoza never had a chance with Ortiz leading the fight all the way, his flicking left making Cordoza's face a red smeared mask.

The end came in one minute and seven seconds of the sixth round.

A crowd estimated at 2,000 witnessed the fight, sponsored by the Fort Worth Lions Clubs. The gate was announced as around $10,000 with the fighters receiving 50 per cent, each paid in war bonds.

Both of the boys are from California, and it was in that state two years ago that Cordoza gave the then uncrowned champion quite a fight, losing in the ninth round on a technical knock-out because of a badly cut eye.

Tonight Ortiz battered Cordoza unmercifully. The game young man from Sacramento got in some nice blows, but for every one he landed Ortiz matched it with three.

The knockout punch was a hard right to the body and Cordoza took the count on his hands and knees.

Six Veterans Are Core of Toronto Leaf Ball Club

SIX veterans of major and minor professional baseball will be the foundation for the International League team to represent Toronto this season. Although most of last year's squad are gone, the Leafs will show this half-dozen veterans along with a likely looking bunch of newcomers and rival managers are rating the Leafs as dangerous. Top row, left to right, are Manager Burleigh Grimes; Jimmy Ripple, former New York Giant and Yankee outfielder, and Harry Davis, first baseman, who has been with a number of top minor league clubs as well as in the majors. Lower row, left to right, are Nick Strincevich, pitcher, who came to the Leafs from Pittsburgh Pirates last season; Ralph "Red" Kress, veteran big league shortstop, and Grimes' first assistant, and Luke "Hot Potato" Hamlin, whose last important big league pitching work was done with Brooklyn Dodgers.

Bonham Pitches Another Victory For the Yankees

Blanks Boston Red Sox to Pace Squad To Easy Triumph—Cubs Beat Cards

BOSTON, April 28 (AP). — Ernie Bonham pitched six-hit shutout ball today as New York Yankees battered Boston Red Sox, 5-0, but George (Snuffy) Stirnweiss stole the show with his batting.

The twenty-four-year-old rookie shortstop, who was to leave for Hartford, Conn., after the game to report for an induction examination, made three of the Yankees' eight hits off Joe Dobson, scoring one run and batting in another.

There was some doubt about whether or not Stirnweiss would be inducted tomorrow. He has had stomach ulcers and club officials said he was rejected in an attempt to become a naval aviation cadet during the Winter.

The young infielder had a home run in his system and he got into today's game against his former teammates in time to deliver it with two aboard in the ninth inning and bring the Braves a 3-2 National League victory.

The Giants gave Ryan and Catcher Hugh Poland yesterday for big Ernie Lombardi, the National League batting champion, and Manager Mel Ott used Lombardi as a pinch-hitter today. He batted for Gus Mancuso in the ninth and hit into a double play.

Rangers Capture Canadian Junior Ice Hockey Title

Winnipeg Scores Great Victory in Series Over Oshawa Generals, 6-3

By FRASER MACDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 28 (CP).—Winnipeg's underdog Rangers tonight won the junior hockey championship of Canada by whipping the Oshawa Generals, 6-3, in a rousing climax to a stirring series.

The Western Canada champions won the game in the third period with a scoring outburst which produced three goals while the Generals faltered in the closing minutes before the relentless offensive. The win was their fourth in the best-of-seven series.

After the game, Registrar W. A. Hewitt, of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, presented the O.H.A. Memorial Cup, emblematic of the junior championship of the Dominion, to President Art Chipman, of the Winnipeg club.

The stirring game had the crowd of 14,485 almost limp with excitement at its finish, but they cheered the new champions with just as much zest when it was over as they had during the series' six games.

Little Eddie Coleman and lanky Cal Gardner spearheaded the Winnipeg victory offensive. Coleman scored three goals, two in the first period and one in the third, while Gardner applied the clinching argument with a brace of counters in the third.

PETERSON TURNS THE TIDE

But it was diminutive Joe Peterson who turned the tide to victory for the Western Canada champions. The score was tied 3-3 in the third period and he put the Rangers to the front with a brilliant solo rush almost the length of the ice, finishing off by dodging around the Oshawa defence and then whipping the puck past Goalie Harvey Bennett.

Oshawa had taken an early lead in the first period and it seemed as though they might take the game and send the series—which has drawn more than 65,000 fans—into a seventh game Saturday night.

Russ Johnstone opened the scoring for Oshawa on a solo play, but Coleman put Winnipeg into the lead with his first-period goals. Bill Ezinicki and Albert (Red) Tilson scored for Oshawa before the first period was over. In the second the only goal went to Coleman.

The penalties were evenly divided, Gardner, Bill Boorman and Chuck Russell, of the Rangers, serving time, and Johnstone, Frank Bennett and Don Batten being the Oshawa offenders.

FIRST PERIOD

Both teams started at a fast pace and play swept from one goal to the other in the first five minutes. Oshawa went into the lead with an unassisted goal by Defenceman Johnstone, who stickhandled his way through the Winnipeg defence and drove a whistling shot into the net. A few seconds later Jackson blocked a close-in shot from Smith, who was right through, and then Winnipeg tied it up with a surprising goal, Coleman pushing the puck into the net after he was spilled going through the defence.

Coleman put Winnipeg into a 2-1 lead with a brilliant goal on which he whirled in on the nets with unbelievable speed. Irvine had an assist. Ezinicki tied it up for Oshawa on Tilson's assist, with Rangers one man short, Gardner being penalized for charging Frank Bennett.

Johnstone was penalized for high-sticking and on the first play after he went off Jackson made a brilliant stop on a shot from Tilson, after Smith gave a nice display of stickhandling inside the Winnipeg blue line. Tilson registered a minute later when he broke loose alone and went right in on Jackson, making the score 3-2 for Generals. Johnstone was still off.

Just before the end of the period Harvey Bennett was hurt when hit in the face with the puck, but was able to continue.

SECOND PERIOD

Rangers turned on the heat from the start and for more than a minute Generals didn't get the puck from behind their own blue line and it was two and a half minutes before they got it across the Winnipeg blue line. Coleman and Russell tested Harvey Bennett with dangerous shots from close range, while Jackson saved brilliantly from Frank Bennett and Nelson when Oshawa went in on the attack.

The game produced one thrill after another, with brilliant defence play and brilliant goaltending matching attacking power. Coleman set the capacity crowd wild when he tied the score, 3-3, assisted by Russell and Boorman.

Irvine split the Oshawa defence on a lone rush, but Harvey Bennett kicked out his shot. Frank Bennett was penalized for holding, but the Rangers seemed unable to click with the odd-man advantage, although they were buzzing around the Oshawa goal consistently.

Boorman was fenced for tripping Ezinicki and Generals used five forwards in a goal-scoring effort. There were several close ones. Tilson hit the goalpost. Jackson grabbed a couple of hot drives and the Generals went without a goal during the penalty.

The Rangers maintained an aggressive pace and checked so fiercely they had the Oshawa team almost completely tied up. Russell and Batten drew penalties just before the end of the period, the former for slashing, the latter for rouging.

THIRD PERIOD

Attendance was 14,485. The crowd went wild in protest just after the three-minute mark when the puck went into the net on a Winnipeg rush and the officials called the goal back. But the Rangers went into the lead on a great goal by Peterson, who dashed down alone, scooted around the Oshawa defence and went in to beat Bennett.

Rangers continued the pressure and it looked like the clincher when Gardner scored on Peterson's assist to make it 5-3 for the Western junior champions. Changing forward lines almost every minute, Rangers adopted forechecking tactics in an effort to bottle up the Oshawa squad.

Tilson broke loose from the checking and all the Generals roared in on the attack, but failed to get the puck past Jackson. Gardner got his second in a row on Irvine's assist to make it 6-3 for the Westerners.

Bay Meadows to Ask for Twenty More Race Days

SACRAMENTO, Calif., April 28 (AP).—Bay Meadows will apply for an additional twenty days of racing either at the close of the current meeting, May 8, or next Fall, says State Senator Harry Parkman, of San Mateo, Calif.

The legislator made the announcement last night after the State Senate had passed his bill which would allow the track 100 days of racing this year, subject to the State Racing Commission's action. Eighty days of racing will have been held at the close of the present meeting.

The bill now goes to the Assembly for action.

TOAST and TEA

By J. V. McAREE

A FRIEND of ours lost a valuable racing pigeon, and after a fortnight's searching found it in another man's loft. There it had mated with a hen and the pair were on eggs. What to do? He could take his pigeon home, but it would be another fortnight before it could be mated and down on eggs again. Then the eggs would be lost, and as it turned out, the hen that the cock was mated to was an extra good bird. So eventually it was decided that the birds should be left to hatch their young, after which the cock would be taken home with one of the youngsters, for it was agreed that they would thus be divided. The man who owned the hen bird decided to mark the eggs, and picking up one, he was making a mark on it with a pencil, when the point punctured the shell and the egg was destroyed. "Too bad, too bad," he said to the other fancier, who was looking on with disgust, "and that happened to be your egg too!"

Hockey Players Leave Calgary

CALGARY, April 28 (CP).—When Ottawa Commandos, Allan Cup champions, left for home tonight, all but Neil and Mac Colville, Kenny Reardon and Jack McGill were in the party. This quartette of players left later in the evening to visit relatives in Edmonton.

Syd Fenn will leave the party at Regina, from where he will fly to Saskatoon; Joe Cooper, Alex Shibicky, Eddie Slowinski and Jake Brunning are stopping off in Winnipeg, while the rest will continue on to Ottawa.

All members of the Canadian championship team were granted fourteen days' leave of absense from army duties.

Also on the train were Dick Irvin and his Montreal Canadiens on their way back east after an exhibition tour that included games in California and New Westminster.

Members of the Victoria Army team leave for home Thursday morning, where they will be tendered a banquet, after which they will be granted furloughs.

Highlight of Commandos Western jaunt, according to Coach Alex Smith, was their visit to Banff this afternoon. While their time was limited at the Rocky Mountain resort they managed to enjoy a swim in the sulphur water and take in a few of the sights, such as the ski terrain on top of Mount Norquay.

TORONTO, April 28 (CP).—Sportsmanship of Gerard Cote, the little French - Canadian sergeant from Valleyfield, Que., who won the Boston marathon this year for a second time, is related by Elmer Ferguson, of The Montreal Herald.

Cote's wife carried three small bottles of tea to refresh the runner during the long grind. By the time he called for tea, Cote and Pte. Johnny Kelley, of the United States Army, were out in front by themselves. Gerry shared his tea with Kelley.

"That was repeated several times," wrote Fergie. "There were the two leaders, representing two great armies, fighting each other tooth and nail for the big prize, yet the one who had taken care to provide a refreshing, light stimulant, was perfectly willing that his principal contender should share it with him.

"And it's typical of Cote, a thoroughly fine and modest sportsman. There was an occasion a few years back, when Cote had a chance to set a new record in the United States national championship marathon . . . Cote was racing well within himself, had the record in his grasp. A girl in a closely-following car stood up and called: Go ahead and break the record, Gerry!

"Right there, Cote slowed down his pace. For the girl who called to him was the widow of Pat Dengis, who had set the record not long before and had been killed in a flying crash. 'I just couldn't take the record away from Pat,' said Cote."

Candidate For Derby

Burnt Cork May Race Saturday

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 28 (AP).—It appeared that Burnt Cork still is a likely starter in Saturday's Kentucky Derby and in that case the boys and girls are convinced they know who'll finish last.

The Cork is owned by Rochester of the radio and off his training tricks and his latest racing effort—he staggered home last in yesterday's Derby trial—starting him in the Derby mile-and-a-quarter would be a whole lot funnier than any of his owner's gags ever were.

Returning him to the list—on the say-so of Mr. Benny's man Friday of the ether—boosts the possible starting field for the blue grass brawl to somewhere between nine and a dozen, headed by Count Fleet and Ocean Wave.

When Burnt Cork finally ambled to the finish line yesterday, even the folks who don't know a race horse from a merry-go-round mount voted unanimously that anything over three-quarters of a mile for the Cork is strictly a cross-country bunion Derby.

Yet today, Owner Rochester (Eddie Anderson to his mailman), said he would send Mr. Bones' big boy to the post Saturday, although it was explained he might not come home until Monday. It might be pointed out here that it costs only $500 to start a horse in the Derby—and those horses draw a lot of headlines.

Of course, it is possible the Cork was only out there kidding the folks yesterday, but after leading for half a mile, he stopped as if the Chicago Bears' line hit him.

Andy's Lions have played with both the old and the new baseballs this Spring and, while the new one is a lot slower, he claims it will go if it's hit right.

The best attack is to wait for the ship to roll and then charge downhill . . . But a smart defensive boxer learns when to sidestep and then it's up to the other guy to keep from going overboard.

TALKING OVER THE BASEBALL

Another angle on the dying subject of the dead baseball . . . During the Spring exhibition season, when the clubs still were using 1942 left-overs, major league teams playing against each other averaged 7.42 runs and 15.54 hits a game (for both teams) . . . Since the advent of the season and the balata ball, the average (up to yesterday's games) was 8.06 runs and 14.33 hits . . . High score for one team in an exhibition was thirteen runs; for the regular season so far, twelve runs . . . Draw your own conclusions . . . Ours is that there's not much wrong with the "baloney" ball that a Ty Cobb or Willie Keeler couldn't cure.

CAPTURES SOFTBALL GAME

O.T.C. sofeballers from Gordon Head scored a close victory over the Navy the other evening by an 11-10 count on the latter's home field. Five runs in the second and another four in the fifth inning paved the way for victory for the Gordon Head lads. The sailors drove across five in the third, two in the second and their last three in the seventh frame.

GRAPHIC GOLF

BY BEST BALL

RULE OF THE THUMB

One of the golfer's chief centres of sensitivity lies in end of his thumbs. Pressed down on the shaft, the nerve centres here are in direct contact with the club. Small wonder then that any slight alterations which occur in the stroke, are telegraphed to the brain from this point. Properly utilized this information will help the golfer. It provides a guard to keep the clubhead constant, yet it starts the machinery for correcting a fault, once it occurs. Attention focussed on this point will tell a player whether or not the clubhead is aligned correctly to the ball. Any slight twist of the shaft which might change the clubhead's relation to the ball would be noticed and corrected. Much of this of course would come under the heading of an instinctive gesture.

More than a few golfers make especial use of this quality in putting. Johnny Farrell used to press the tips of his thumbs firmly into the [illegible] to give him a more delicate sense of touch when putting. There are possibilities here that many an average golfer might well explore. Bobby Jones above employed this system in his swing and the results have made golf history.

Outsider Romps To Upset Victory

BALTIMORE, April 28 (AP).—A two-year-old filly, making her second start of the season, chalked up a record place pay-off for the season [illegible]. The show price was $53.20.

The filly, Edmar Farm's Anizgoce, went to the post at odds of better than 2l8 to 1, and lasted by a nose to finish second ahead of Free Dutch in the four and a half furlong test for maiden two-year-olds.

Backers of Mrs. H. D. Massey's Which Ace, the winner, didn't do so badly either. Which Ace, a rank outsider making his first start, led all the way, finished four lengths in front and paid $64.30.

The daily double pay-off also was a high for the meeting. The combination of Which Ace in the first and Red Chip in the second race paid $339 for $2.

Romantic Mystery Opening at York

The kind of supercharged suspense and excitement that made Dashiell Hammett's "Thin Man" and "Maltese Falcon" the hits they were, are packed into Paramount's "The Glass Key," which opens today at the York Theatre with Brian Donlevy, Veronica Lake and Alan Ladd co-starred.

The story has to do with shady politics, a high-powered, three-cornered romance and a baffling murder. Donlevy, political boss, is engaged to Veronica who pretends to love him so that he will back her father in the mayoralty race. She really loves Ladd, Donlevy's right-hand man. When Veronica's brother is murdered and Donlevy is accused, things pop fast and furiously.

Others in the film are Bonita Granville, Richard Denning, Joseph Calleia and William Bendix.

Lumber Camp Saga To Appear at Rio

Picturing another acute phase of war on the home front, the threat of sabotage of our forests, Universal presents a lumber camp drama, "Timber," opening today at the Rio Theatre.

Heralded as action-packed, the film co-stars Leo Carrillo, Andy Devine and Dan Dailey, Jr. Marjorie Lord, stage beauty, who is a newcomer to the screen, and Edmund MacDonald have outstanding roles in the supporting cast.

Carrillo portrays the operator of a lumber mill. Devine is a "bull of the woods," or logging foreman, on a timber project which is menaced by saboteurs. Daily plays a scrapping undercover G-Man assigned to investigate mysterious accidents which, essentially, are hindering the production of lumber for munitions industries.

Romantic Love Story In Comic Operetta

How a Swiss commissary lieutenant with more of an eye for women than the glory of war upset the dignity of the entire Bulgarian army in the year 1885 and made love to the daughter of a fire-eating colonel, is musically demonstrated on the stage of the Royal Victoria Theatre, when "The Chocolate Soldier" comes to Victoria for a two-day engagement, Friday, April 30 and Saturday, May 1.

Charles Purcell, long a favorite Lieutenant Bumerli, who has sung the part more than 2,000 times, is the demonstrator of Oscar Straus' gay, spicy and melodious operetta.

In the supporting company which Producer Ali M. Ipar has provided Purcell, are Virginia Card, recently from the much discussed "Rosalinda" in New York; Ruth Gillette, well known and always popular in musical comedy; pretty Elvira Tanzi as the woman in the case.

Others are Alonzo Price, Gene Ramey, Earl Covert and Nisha Allen. A particularly fine chorus and a splendid ballet support the principals under the musical direction of Cecil Stewart, ace operetta conductor.

"The Chocolate Soldier" has just finished a long run in San Francisco, and a successful ten days' engagement at The Metropolitan in Seattle.

New Disney Cartoon Held Over at Atlas

When Walt Disney moved his "Bambi" production unit to new quarters, the sight was like a scene in one of his own features. Literally hundreds of animals and birds had been collected as models for the appealing characters in the entrancing new "Bambi," and the procession streamed across Hollywood like a modern Noah's Ark.

"Bambi," which has been held over at the Atlas Theatre, is Disney's picturization of the famous Felix Salten Book-of-the-Month. It took five years hard work to make "Bambi," which was photographed in Multiplane Technicolor.

Thrilling Escape in Current Cadet Hit

"Desperate Journey," which opens today at the Cadet Theatre, starring Errol Flynn and Ronald Reagan, is a story that fully lives up to its exciting title. The thrill-packed film tells about the extraordinary adventures of five members of a British Hudson bomber who are shot down while on a bombing mission over Germany.

After leading the Gestapo a merry chase across the rest of Germany and a good part of Holland, they steal a reconditioned British bomber which the Germans were going to use in a sneak raid on London. It is a desperate fight against overwhelming odds but the intrepid Britishers are successful and make their getaway.

After they are safe over the Channel, Flynn radios to squadron headquarters that they are coming in, mission completed!

CAPITOL THEATRE. There is so much fun—so much entertainment—in "Star Spangled Rhythm," which is now showing at the Capitol Theatre, that it is difficult to select for special mention the work of one star or another. But you're sure to thrill especially to the "Black Magic" number in which Zorina dances and "Johnny Johnston sings and you're going to talk a lot about "A Sweater, a Sarong, and a Peek-a-boo Bang" which Paulette Goddard, Dorothy Lamour and Veronica Lake do. And the rousing American finale sung by Bing Crosby is a thriller, too.

DOMINION THEATRE. During the shooting of the film "Desert Victory," which ends today at the Dominion Theatre, photographers participated through 1,300 miles of chase and fighting; sometimes they advanced with their troops; sometimes they were ahead of them, and a dozen photographers were lost. Four were killed, seven were wounded and others were captured by the German Afrika Korps.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRE. Beautiful Santa Rosa, Calif., is proud of its bright, immaculate concrete streets, but recently, when painters began spraying a block area on Macdonald Avenue with drab, dark gray, the citizens suspected sabotage.

"The light pavement was too glary in contrast to the deep shadows of the magnolia trees," explained Hitchcock, who was directing Universal's "Shadow of a Doubt," which is now showing at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres, starring Teresa Wright and Joseph Cotton.

Substantial Increases Made In Benefits Upon Discharge

TORONTO, April 28 (CP).—Substantial increases in the scale of post-discharge benefits to members of the armed forces pending re-establishment and improvements in the provisions for treatment of men suffering from disabilities were announced by Pensions Minister Mackenzie tonight, speaking before the Toronto Businessmen's Branch of the Canadian Legion.

The scale of benefits has been raised from $9 a week for a single man and $13 for a married man to $10.20 a week for a single man and $14.40 for a married man. In addition allowances for children on the same scale as the dependents' allowances paid during service are authorized, together with an allowance for a dependent parent.

The minister announced three orders in council affecting men discharged from the forces were passed last week. They were:

1. An amendment to the post-discharge order increasing benefits and making some other changes;

2. Amendments to treatment regulations to provide complete treatment of non-pensionable disabilities and higher cash allowances plus allowances for dependents of men undergoing treatment after discharge;

3. An amendment to the War Veterans' Allowance Act to do away with deductions from allowances because of casual earnings.

CREATE SPECIAL PROBLEM CENTRES

Mr. Mackenzie also announced a plan for creating special reconditioning centres for problem cases, men who believe they are suffering from some physical defect but who are not pensionable and still not able to earn a living.

Under the revised post-discharge order a single man may receive $44.20 a month while he is engaged in vocational training, completing his ed- -on or setting himself up in some private enterprise where earnings are slow in materializing, such as farming or a small business. The benefits available to married men start with $62.40 a month for a man without children and range up to $120.40 a month for a man with a wife and six children.

Men with dependent parents may receive $15 a month in addition to the allowances payable on account of their own status.

Formerly post-discharge allowances were cut down to the extent of the pensions received by a disabled man.

"We shall not hereafter deduct from any vocational training grant awarded to a disability pensioner, the full amount of his pension," said Mr. Mackenzie.

"In the case of an unmarried pensioner whose disability is assessed at less than 15 per cent, his pension will be completely ignored in awarding vocational training benefit. That is he will receive his pension and the full allowance.

TO PAY EXTRA ALLOWANCE

"In the case of a single man whose disability pension ranges from 15 per cent to 55 per cent we shall pay the amount of the vocational allowance necessary to bring his income up to $55 a month, instead of $44.20.

"In the case of a married man in receipt of both vocational training allowance and pension up to 55 per cent we shall allow him to receive up to $75 per month before taking cognizance of the pension although the normal rate in benefit under the post-discharge order would be a maximum of $62.40."

Where there are children a married pensioner's $75 will be augmented by children's allowances.

Where a pension is for more than a 55 per cent disability the man will receive his normal rate of pension plus a post-discharge grant to the extent of 25 per cent of his pension.

Children's allowances in all cases are $12 a month for two children, $10 for a third and $8 for a fourth, fifth and sixth.

Board Extends Standard Meat Price System

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP) — The Prices Board announced tonight the standard price system under which Toronto and Winnipeg housewives know exactly what maximum price per pound they should pay for any cut of beef they buy is being extended to thirteen other urban areas in Canada.

The extension is effective today and will continue until May 26. The board said it might then be further extended. The standard price system has been in operation in Toronto and Winnipeg since March 1.

Other centres covered by the order—generally including the city and its suburbs within a stated radius ranging from five to twenty-five miles from the city centre—are: Halifax, Sydney, N.S.; Saint John, N.B.; Quebec City, Montreal, Ottawa-Hull, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Ont.; Welland, Ont.; Niagara Falls, Ont.; Brantford, Ont.; London, Ont., and all municipalities within the Ontario counties of Essex, Lambton and Kent.

Farmers Protest New Restrictions

Metchosin farmers unanimously endorsed a strong protest to Ottawa against the new Wartime Prices and Trade Board regulations prohibiting farmers from killing and selling their own stock at a meeting held in Metchosin Hall on Tuesday night.

They contended that this would put most of the Island farmers out of business, and in the event of isolation of the Island by the fortunes of war would bring near starvation to the residents of Victoria and district.

Farmers on the Mainland, said F. C. Blake, president of the Metchosin Farmers' Institute, have the advantage of being able to dispose of their stock through the large meat packers, but here there are no abattoirs to speak of and comparatively few small dealers.

A wire has been sent to Donald Gordon, chairman of the Prices Board, and a petition has been signed by a large number of farmers and consumers.

Ten complete bomber crews

In an address following the presentation of wings to graduates, Col. Begg, who was second in command of the Calgary Tank Regiment at Dieppe, said:

"When we finished at Dieppe every German crate in France went into the air but they didn't get to Dieppe. Those few which did get through were taken care of by the umbrella of air support over us," he said.

FIRST OF KIND IN WESTERN CANADA

Graduates advanced in fours, instead of singly, to receive their wings, which were pinned first on the pilot, then on the navigator, air bomber and wireless air gunner. It was the first graduation ceremony of its kind to be held in Western Canada.

The airmen came from Australia, New Zealand, the United Kingdom and Canada.

Graduates included:

Pilots—R. B. Duclos, New Westminster; H. R. Whittal, Vancouver.

Air Navigators—Sgt. H. R. Mooney, Vancouver; R. R. Thompson, Saanich; L. T. Magson, Vancouver.

Wireless Air Gunner—D. J. Dorgan, New Westminster.

Protest Ottawa Ruling on Tax

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP). — Miss Charlotte Whitton, former Canadian Welfare Council director, said today that the very life and care of thousands of children had been threatened and social agencies thrown "into consternation" by the Justice Department ruling that a child born out of wedlock is not a legal child on which taxation exemptions may be granted.

Miss Whitton was speaking to the Ottawa Woman's Club.

Last week the Justice Department ruled that a child born out of wedlock was not a legal child.

Miss Whitton said the Finance Minister had implied in Parliament that parents were not under legal obligation to support such children or the children of common law marriages.

"Humanity and Christianity demand that they challenge this principle that a child born out of wedlock has no legal claim as a little helpless human being on either parent," she said.

"This challenges the law of all our provinces; it defies the Criminal Code of Canada in which, since 1892, we have built up protection for women and children, and it overrides the section which says that children 'in any way recognized as being the children of the person concerned shall on this prima facie evidence be regarded for purposes of support as legitimate children'."

PURCHASE MALTA BED

CRANBROOK, B.C., April 28 (CP). —A bed in a hospital at Malta has been purchased with funds donated by the Kimberley Chapter of the East Kootenay Registered Nurses' Association.

6 Big display windows, but we have never bothered decorating them. It's pretty hard to see in from the alley 20 ft. below, but to-day a fellow fixing the telephone line scared the daylights out of us hammering on the window and hollering: "Say—Buddy—what's an outfit like that set you back?" is now displayed in Window No. 2 as a keen Dinette set like this.

Jack-knife table, glass front buffet 18" by 40" and 4 good looking Windsor style hardwood chairs, and the big sign says $45 for the works. If it interests you, come to the HEANEY WAREHOUSE, or down the alley and climb the pole.

Your Health and Your Weight - -

Jas. W. Barton, M.D.

IDEAL WEIGHTS FOR WOMEN TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AND OVER

I once tried to make up height and weight tables for boys and men as I had access to thousands of measurements. At that time we knew very little about the ductless or endocrine glands and of how these glands affected build and weight. Then when I did learn something of the effects of glands, I found that other factors entered into the height and weight relation and although tables have been worked out for boys and girls and men and women that come nearer to being correct than at any previous time, still, as the Statistical Bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company states:

"Actually, there is no set of weights that can be called ideal and to which all women of a certain height should conform. For there are many factors influencing body weight which must be considered in deciding what is the best weight for a particular individual or type." A woman with light bones, narrow chest and hips should not be expected to weigh as much as a woman of the same height whose chest and hips are wide.

I have spoken a number of times of the woman with long body and short legs as compared with the woman with the short body and long legs. Naturally the one with the long body should weigh much more as the trunk weighs more than the legs.

What, then, should be the "ideal" weight for any individual woman? While some physicians consider that a woman is mature at twenty-five and her weight at that age should not increase with age, other physicians consider thirty-five the ideal age and so the weight at thirty-five should not increase as she grows older. Most insurance companies consider thirty the ideal age and there should be no weight increase thereafter.

"However, a table of best or ideal weights must take into account the variations in human structure." A recent table that may prove helpful to women shows the range or variation in weight for the same height, depending upon whether the individual has a small, medium or large frame. The height is taken with shoes, and the weight as ordinarily dressed.

Small frame: Height 5 feet, weight 105 to 113 pounds; height 5 feet 1 inch, add 2 pounds—107 to 115 pounds; 5 feet 3 inches, add 3 pounds—110 to 118 pounds. For every inch in height thereafter add 3 pounds; thus a woman of small frame, 5 feet 4 inches, should be 116 to 125 pounds.

Medium frame: Height 5 feet, weight 112 to 120 pounds; 5 feet 1 inch—114 to 122 pounds. For every inch in height above 5 feet 1 inch, add 3 pounds. Thus a woman of medium frame, 5 feet 4 inches, should weigh 124 to 132 pounds.

Large frame: Height 5 feet, weight 119 to 129 pounds; 5 feet 1 inch, 121 to 131 pounds. For every inch above 5 feet 1 inch, add three pounds. Thus a woman of large frame, 5 feet 4 inches, should weigh 131 to 142 pounds.

It can be seen then that a woman who considers herself of the light-frame class and looks at the first table for clothes or small frame can be easily discouraged about her overweight, if she really belongs to the second class or medium frame.

A woman with a large frame may likewise be discouraged if she considers herself of medium build or frame and looks at the table for those of medium build.

The thought, then, if you are interested in the relation of weight to height, is to take a look at yourself honestly, place yourself in your "right" class, and then look at the table for your class.

Further, the table allows a variation of eight to ten pounds for your height, so there should be no real "struggle" to attain your proper weight.

"TAURUS"

If April 29 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date will be from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., from 2 to 5 p.m., and from 9 to 11 p.m. The danger periods will be from 9 to 11 a.m., from 7 to 9 p.m., and from 11 p.m. until midnight.

Fight weaknesses on April 29 and strive to hold steadfast to your high ideals and standard of living if you expect to get through the day successfully. Faulty memories may result in many misunderstandings and the endangering of many friendships, so be careful that yours plays no tricks. Unless you are thoroughly conversant with any subject under discussion avoid expressing an opinion about it if you wish to save yourself unkind criticism. This is the time during which you should strenuously try to carry out all good intentions, particularly if they involve writing letters. Married and engaged couples, and those who have found their matrimonial ideal, will do well to "be ruled by time, the wisest counsellor of all, if they are faced with a knotty problem whose solution appears to be very difficult and elusive.

If you are a woman and April 29 is your birthday, you probably have a philosophy of your own that enables you to reconcile yourself to the things you do not like. Your readiness to share other people's troubles may cause you to assume burdens which you have no right to bear, so the sooner you let others work out their own salvation the happier you are apt to be. As a specialty shop operator, business manager, writer, lecturer, demonstrator, artist, designer, teacher, musician, or demonstrating your love for your country by doing work of a practical nature, you may attain an enviable position in your chosen career and find yourself financially dependent. Concentrate upon making your marriage a success in order to make it an accomplished fact.

The child born on April 29 must be taught to curb any pugnacious tendencies or feelings of resentment he may have against disciplinary measures for his own good. Parental co-operation with those responsible for this youngster's welfare is most essential if the proper results are to be attained.

If you are a man and April 29 is your natal day, you must learn to master your temper if it is not to master you. Far more can be accomplished by using gentleness than by using severity. As an astronomer, educator, physician, jurist, politician, contractor, builder, chemist, botanist, zoologist explorer, actor, author, journalist, artist, musician, business executive, or as a result of military exploits on land, sea or in the air, you may win many laurels and a future full of golden opportunities for advancement.

Little Stories for Bedtime - - -

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

What he saw was something red creeping around the edge of the bramble-tangle.

Peter Rabbit sat on the edge of the bramble-tangle, which, you know, is on the edge of the Green Forest, and Peter was very busy. Yes, sir, he was very busy. What about? Why, fooling himself. Of course, that was a funny thing to be doing, but there are many people who, like Peter, spend a great deal of time fooling themselves. Peter didn't know that he was fooling himself. He wouldn't have believed it if he had been told so. But that is just what he was doing and all that he was doing. He was making himself believe that he was working when all the time he didn't know what real work was.

But his friends knew it, and they laughed behind his back as they watched him. Really, it was very funny. Peter would cut two or three vines or brambles, and then he would sit for the longest time just dreaming—dreaming of how splendid it would be when he had finished cutting all the paths he had planned. Then the old bramble-tangle would be almost as good a retreat as the dear Old Briar Patch, and it would save him a lot of worry and hard running when he happened to be surprised by some of his enemies.

He was right in the middle of one of these pleasant dreams when Sammy Jay came flying toward him, screaming in great excitement. "Run, Peter, run! Run as hard as ever you can!" screamed Sammy. "Reddy Fox will catch you if you don't!"

In an instant Peter was wide awake. No dreaming now. He didn't have to turn his head to see that what Sammy said was true. You know, he can see behind him without turning his head, and what he saw now was a something red creeping around the edge of the bramble-tangle. He didn't have to look twice to know what it was. It was the red coat of Reddy Fox. Peter took one long jump in the direction of the dear Old Briar Patch, and just as he did so Sammy Jay screamed again.

"Look out! Oh, Peter, look out for Redtail the Hawk!" he warned.

Peter could hardly have heard worse news. He glanced up, and there, sure enough, was Redtail sailing round and round high up in the blue, blue sky, but not so high but that he could come down like a shot if he should catch sight of a Rabbit running across the Green Meadows. So it could hardly have been worse news from Peter's way of looking at things. With Reddy Fox behind him and Redtail the Hawk above him, he would have very, very little chance of reaching the Old Briar Patch.

"Why don't you use those paths which you have been working so hard to make in the bramble-tangle?" called Sammy.

If Peter had not had so much else to think about just then he might have suspected that Sammy Jay was making fun of him, but he didn't have time to think of anything but what he should do. If he only had finished those paths, or even one of them, into the heart of the bramble-tangle there would be nothing to worry about now. But the plain truth was he had hardly more than started the first of these paths, and at the end of it he would be where Reddy Fox would almost reach him, and certainly would reach him if he was willing to be scratched a little.

But there was nowhere else to go and Peter turned back and scurried in just in time. Reddy Fox stopped at the beginning of the little path and peeped in. Then he grinned, for he saw that Peter had reached the end.

"I think," said Reddy Fox, "that a rabbit dinner is worth a few scratches!" And with that he began to crawl in after Peter.

Ottawa Refuses Aid in Repairing Craigflower Road

Not Widely Used By Service Cars

A report, indicating that Dominion Government assistance in repairing Craigflower Road would not be forthcoming, was read at the Esqui[illegible] It had been sent to R. W. Mayhew, M.P., from his Ottawa office.

According to the letter, authorities in Ottawa considered the road was not used extensively by service vehicles and that Dominion funds should not be used to maintain the road.

"If we rebuild it they will be using it soon enough," Councillor F. G. Eaton commented. A motion by Councillor J. P. A. Christensen that tenders be called for the repair of the road was passed. A letter from Mayor Andrew McGavin, asking the opinion of the council regarding public ownership of services provided by the B.C. Electric Railway, was endorsed by the council, which will secure fuller information on the subject. Tenders accepted last night [illegible] struction of a shed for municipal trucks at a cost of $4,985 and Moore-Whittington Lumber Co., Ltd., for the construction of three wooden benches for $16.70 each.

The foreman of works reported the estimated cost of repairing sidewalks on portions of Macaulay, Effingham and Head Streets would be $1,454. His report was made as a result of a tour of investigation by the council. The council endorsed efforts made recently toward having permanent military hospital accommodation provided here.

How It Started------

By JEAN NEWTON

WHY DO WE CALL IT AN "AMBULANCE?"

An ambulance is a traveling hospital, and that, from the military lexicon, is how we have the word.

"Ambulance" is rooted in the Latin ambulare to walk.

The earliest usage seems to have been by the French, who followed their armies' hospital ambulant, walking hospital.

Gradually the first half of the expression was dropped, the second was modified to ambulance, and, the military significance of "moving hospital" was supplanted by that of a vehicle which transported casualties on the battlefield or sick people from their homes to a hospital.

The roof-spotter was excited. "There's a bomb falling!" he phoned down. "It's coming so near I could catch it."

A moment later there was a terrific explosion. His colleague below snapped one word into the telephone: "Butter-fingers!"

Hints on Food Conservation

SAVE THE VEGETABLES

The not-so-perishable foods need plenty of dry, airy, cupboard space. Cool, dry, dark storage is best for foods canned in glass and for onions and potatoes. Most other vegetables require cold, short storage if not used as soon as they come into the house . . . count them among perishables.

KEEP FATS FRESH

Store butter and other table fats in a tightly covered dish in a dark, cold place away from strong odors. Strain fat drippings to remove food particles, and store in clean, covered jars in a cool, dark, dry place until you can use them up.

JUICES ARE GOOD FOR YOU

Don't drain away vegetable juices. They contain much of the vitamin and mineral material that has cooked out of the vegetable. Save them for soups and sauces. Save fruit juices and syrups from canned fruits for cold drinks. Save bread and cracker crumbs . . . in fact, save all good, clean food in pans and on serving platters, to combine with other saved materials.

CANADA NEEDS YOU STRONG

Prepare nutritious, wholesome meals, follow Canada's food rules. A copy of these official food rules awaits you in our Service Food Sections.
